We're Meek, Says Inge.
Is Ford a Trust?
Air Prospectors.
A Big Needle's Eye.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Dean Inge tells what he thinks of America after three weeks' stay. He is amazed at our meekness, submitting to anything that bears the stamp of official authority. Long before the dean, Lord Northcliffe remarked, "the Americans are a very docile people."

This is the happiest of countries, according to the dean, and it is in no danger of revolution. He is right. A people that owns 15 or 20 millions of automobiles is not driving in revolution's direction.

The state of Mississippi sues the Henry Ford Co., Ford dealers and banks, declaring the Ford enterprise a trust, accusing it of price fixing, etc.

What would happen to the officials bringing the suit, if Henry Ford should say, "all right, gentlemen. I am sorry to hurt your feelings. I shall not sell any more cars in Mississippi."

That suit against Ford will be applauded by "big business," that ordinarily would call an anti-trust suit as shameful as trying to hit an old lady in the eye.

But a suit against Ford is different. Big business doesn't like him. He actually finances himself and doesn't give any deserving group of financiers a chance to reorganize him or name his board of directors.

A party of prospectors looking for gold, soon to leave Vancouver, on a trip to the northern part of British Columbia, will not jog slowly along on donkeys. They are going by airplane.

Flying low the experienced prospectors will spy out the land, descending at favorable spots.

That's progress. Flying machines above the earth and submarines crawling along the bottom of the oceans will find many mines and oil wells.

John D. Rockefeller Jr., who distributes millions freely, has been elected a trustee of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, although not an Episcopalian.

Occasionally you find a needle with an eye through which a rich man can pass quite easily.

Mr. Rockefeller moves that men of all denominations be eligible as trustees. He thinks that would stimulate raising funds.

The motion should be changed to read: "Any man worth $50,000,000 and up shall be eligible."

At a convention of women in Washington, members of the National Association of Colored Women complain of race discrimination. They found themselves seated apart from white women at a concert, and 200 Negro singers on the program refused to appear.

Race discrimination unfortunately is as old as the difference in races, and it shows itself even within the race.

Certain classes of Chinese look down on other classes. Southern white aristocrats used to look down upon New England nutmeg vendors and probably continue to do so.

In the days of Spinoza, Portuguese and Spanish Jews would not associate with German Jews.

This writer has head German Jews speak disparingly of Russian, Polish and Rumanian Jews.

At one church for Negroes in Washington, some of the very black members protested because they had to take seats in the rear away from the light mulattoes sitting in front.

Prejudice is a part of human ignorance.

Beginning today street car lines of New York city will permit women to smoke on open cars with seats reserved for smokers.

There is nothing surprising about that. A public opinion that allows women to take off half their clothes in private life and 90 per cent on the stage will not be excited about women smoking on street cars.

You are told the new rule means equality, and perhaps it does. But, there are two kinds of equality — one raises you up to a higher level as when slaves were set free, or women permitted to vote. The other drags you down, making you the equal of something below you.

That's the sort of equality women achieve when the are allowed to smoke in public.

They might also be allowed to chew tobacco. Perhaps that will be the next step.

CHURCH ASKS PAYMENT FOR STORM HAVOC

Second Presbyterian Trustees Request Council to Act.

East End Fire Hose Problem up—Order Street Improvements.

A request that the city reimburse the Second Presbyterian church for the damages alleged to have been done to the church edifice, last June 28, when the building was flooded by waters from a nearby run during a rain storm, was made to city council last evening by the church trustees. A court action unless council acts, was hinted in the communication.

Shortly after the storm trustees asked council to act, alleging that negligence on the part of the city to keep the run open was responsible for the damage. Council decided that in view of the wide-spread damage done to property in the district it would be unfair to adjust the loss in one case and not meet other claims.

LIVERPOOL MOTOR CAR CO. AGENCY SOLD TO HUDSON AND CLEVELAND MEN

A. G. Ellis and Michael Carmada Retire From Ford-Lincoln Sales Concern.

Sale of the Liverpool Motor Car company, West Fifth street, Ford and Lincoln automobile distributors, to J. M. Beers of Cleveland and R. T. Hanks of Hudson, was announced today. The new owners assumed control yesterday.

The business was owned and conducted by Arthur C. Ellis and Michael Camarda. The deal includes only the agency, business and stock and does not take in the building which has been leased to the new firm.

Beers was with the Ford factory at Detroit for several years and is a thoroughly experienced automobile man. Hanks has also had considerable experience in the sale of automobiles at Hudson.

The business here was established by Ellis and others about 10 years ago. The firm occupied a two-story frame building in West Fifth street for several years, but about three years ago erected a three-story fireproof brick garage and sales room opposite the old location.

Ellis and Camarda have not announced their plans for the future. They will be associated with the new owners until about June 1.

DR. E. I. OSGOOD HERE SUNDAY

Missionary From China Will Preach in Church of Christ.

Dr. Elliott I. Osgood, former Ohio man, who has been engaged in missionary work in China for many years, will speak in the First Church of Christ at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dr. Osgood began his work in the Far East in the days when every American or European was hated and feared by the natives. Five years ago when Dr. A. L. Shelton, an American missionary, was captured by Chinese bandits and held for a ransom, Dr. Osgood was sent from East China to Yunnan, 2,500 miles southeastward, to aid in bringing about his liberation. The story of his adventure will be given in his address tomorrow.

During the Chinese civil war, Dr. Osgood was lowered over the great wall of China and negotiated peace with the rebels, thereby saving one of the largest cities in the land.

He is scheduled to speak at Steubenville Sunday night.

Due to Dr. Osgood's appearance here, Mothers' Day exercises in the First Church of Christ have been postponed until Sunday evening.

23 LIVES LOST WHEN U. S. RIVER STEAMER SINKS NEAR MEMPHIS

Prominent Engineers of South Among Victims.

40 ARE RESCUED

Disaster Occurs as Convention Party Returns From Island.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 9.—Twenty-three persons, 17 passengers and six Negro members of the crew of the government river steamer Norman, were drowned in the sinking of the vessel here late Friday, it was disclosed today after an all-night search for survivors, and a careful rechecking of the figures.

Among the passengers were some of the most prominent in engineering circles of the south, including Paul H. Norcross, former president of the Chamber of Commerce in Atlanta, and a widely known engineering authority.

The survivors of the ill-fated vessel number 40, according to the check.

Victim Trapped In Boat.

Police and engineers attending the convention of the Mid-South Association of Engineers announced today that no hope remained for the missing members of their party and predicted that their bodies would be found when divers reached the vessel on the river bottom.

Shortly after dawn this morning the professional divers started down into the river. Fifty-five feet beneath the surface lies the Norman. There, according to the belief of the police, lie the entrapped bodies of most of the victims of the river tragedy.

The belief prevailed that the divers will find the bodies of the drowned caught in the rigging of the vessel. The Negro members of the crew are presumed to have been caught below decks, with no chance of escape. The death list was not put at 23 until after an extensive, all-night search along the shore and at nearby farm houses for those who might have swam ashore and escaped.

Paul H. Norcross Dead.

Reports that Norcross and others were seen in the water swimming vigorously for the shore have not been borne out, the police declared, and indications were that he went down with the others on the boat. The disaster occurred near Coahoma, 17 miles below Memphis, on the Mississippi.

The engineering party was returning from Cow's Island where an afternoon session of the engineering society had been held and all were in gay mood as they steamed up the Mississippi in the late afternoon sunlight.

There was music on board and much laughter and good spirits. Then the boat began to sway. The crowd on board, numbering more than 60 persons, rushed to one side. The boat rolled back into place and over to its other side. The crowd rushed across the deck. This time it kept on turning. Over it went—on its side. Three times it turned in the water, eye witnesses said, and then shot

"APPRECIATE OUR MOTHERS" IS HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR GIRL'S APPEAL ON EVE OF MOTHERS' DAY

Apropos of Mothers' Day, which will be observed throughout the nation tomorrow, is the tribute to maternal devotion paid today by Miss Grace Ramsey, daughter of W. A. Ramsey, city postoffice employe.

Because of its merit as well as its significance today, the eve of the second Sunday of May which is set aside for tribute to a queen who is secure upon her throne, the oration, "Appreciating Our Mothers," delivered by Miss Ramsey, a member of the 1925 graduating class of the high school, is published by The Review-Tribune.

Miss Ramsey wrote and delivered the oration, for which she was awarded second honors in the English literature class oratorical contest by a vote of her classmates. All orators were members of the senior class taught by Miss Rubiena Ikirt. First place was voted E. K. Beanett, Jr., whose subject was "Electricity—The Greatest Force in the Universe."

By MISS GRACE RAMSEY.

Miss Ramsey's tribute to motherhood follows:

By Miss Grace Ramsey.

"A mother's heart holds many charms
And love is ever in her arms,
And in her eyes a faith divine,
While home is you—O Mother Mine!"

America's youth of today show lack of appreciation, a thing needed above all else. Especially noticeable is the lack of the appreciation of our parents. It is because of this fact that I have chosen the subject of "Appreciating Our Mothers."

A most important responsibility rests upon the shoulders of our mothers, for with them rests the task of training the children upon whom the foundation of our nation's future is built. These early efforts of our mothers' influence make in us a lasting impression, one which lasts all through life. We find that this influence is brought about chiefly by her faith, her hope, and her love. It is about these influential qualities and our duties of appreciation that I have built my subject matter.

To begin with, your mother's faith has been centered about you ever since you were a helpless infant. She has had a faith in you and your strength of character which cannot be fathomed. She has pictured you not as a cowering criminal, but as an honest citizen. You have not realized the extent of her faith in your ability to accomplish as much as others. Be it yours to fulfill her faith.

Influence of Mother's Faith.

Her faith in your perseverance is another quality. Mother does not expect you to follow the path of least resistance, but the path of most achievements. Mother's faith in your final victory is such that even your own dreams have not equaled. Nothing can daunt her faith unless it is your own careless attitude, your failure to follow her teachings. Lives of former great men picture for us the influence and fulfillment of a mother's faith. Today we reverence Lincoln as the saviour of our country. Whence originated that strength of character, that nobility of purpose which we all admire? His own answer was, "All that I am, all that I ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother." What we need is Lincoln's appreciation.

At this period of your life your mother's hopes are high. They are the dreams of her life. They are her hopes of you, your nobility, and your success.

Some of you have lost your mothers; no longer do you have her sympathizing love, but a mother in Heaven is all the more reason why you should follow her early hopes of you.

"Now the old home, vacant, has no
charms for you;
One dear form is absent, Mother, kind
and true;
Evermore she dwells where pleasure
never dies,
If you love your Mother, meet her in the skies.

"Listen to her pleading, 'Wandering
boy, come home!'

LIVERPOOL MOTOR CAR CO. AGENCY SOLD TO HUDSON AND CLEVELAND MEN

A. G. Ellis and Michael Carmada Retire From Ford-Lincoln Sales Concern.

Sale of the Liverpool Motor Car company, West Fifth street, Ford and Lincoln automobile distributors, to J. M. Beers of Cleveland and R. T. Hanks of Hudson, was announced today. The new owners assumed control yesterday.

The business was owned and conducted by Arthur C. Ellis and Michael Camarda. The deal includes only the agency, business and stock and does not take in the building which has been leased to the new firm.

Beers was with the Ford factory at Detroit for several years and is a thoroughly experienced automobile man. Hanks has also had considerable experience in the sale of automobiles at Hudson.

The business here was established by Ellis and others about 10 years ago. The firm occupied a two-story frame building in West Fifth street for several years, but about three years ago erected a three-story fireproof brick garage and sales room opposite the old location.

Ellis and Camarda have not announced their plans for the future. They will be associated with the new owners until about June 1.

Commerce Chamber Distributes Road Maps to Autoists

East Liverpool motorists, planning auto trips, may obtain road maps of Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and other states at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The chamber has supply of the Harvey Tourist Auto Guide, covering the mid-east and west central division, and also another booklet of auto maps, issued by a local banking institution, copies of which may be had for the asking. A supply of the smaller maps, showing the two routes to Pittsburgh, one via Beaver, Rochester and Sewickley, and the other the southside road through Chester, Frankfort Springs and Clinton, may also be obtained at the chamber headquarters.

Injunction Order Is Served Upon Mrs. Mendel Wasby

An injunction order has been served upon Mrs. Mendel Wasby of East Liverpool, restraining her from erecting a one-story business building on Fifth street, and leasing it.

This order follows the filing of a petition in common pleas court by Lones, Hill & Davidson in behalf of Moyer Bros. Co., which concern occupied a three-story building owned by the defendant but which was destroyed by fire the night of February 22 last.

CHINESE PEACE MEDIATOR HERE

Dr. Elliott I. Osgood.

DR. E. I. OSGOOD HERE SUNDAY

Missionary From China Will Preach in Church of Christ.

Dr. Elliott I. Osgood, former Ohio man, who has been engaged in missionary work in China for many years, will speak in the First Church of Christ at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dr. Osgood began his work in the Far East in the days when every American or European was hated and feared by the natives. Five years ago when Dr. A. L. Shelton, an American missionary, was captured by Chinese bandits and held for a ransom, Dr. Osgood was sent from East China to Yunnan, 2,500 miles southeastward, to aid in bringing about his liberation. The story of his adventure will be given in his address tomorrow.

During the Chinese civil war, Dr. Osgood was lowered over the great wall of China and negotiated peace with the rebels, thereby saving one of the largest cities in the land.

He is scheduled to speak at Steubenville Sunday night.

Due to Dr. Osgood's appearance here, Mothers' Day exercises in the First Church of Christ have been postponed until Sunday evening.

23 LIVES LOST WHEN U. S. RIVER STEAMER SINKS NEAR MEMPHIS

Prominent Engineers of South Among Victims.

40 ARE RESCUED

Disaster Occurs as Convention Party Returns From Island.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 9.—Twenty-three persons, 17 passengers and six Negro members of the crew of the government river steamer Norman, were drowned in the sinking of the vessel here late Friday, it was disclosed today after an all-night search for survivors, and a careful rechecking of the figures.

Among the passengers were some of the most prominent in engineering circles of the south, including Paul H. Norcross, former president of the Chamber of Commerce in Atlanta, and a widely known engineering authority.

The survivors of the ill-fated vessel number 40, according to the check.

Victim Trapped In Boat.

Police and engineers attending the convention of the Mid-South Association of Engineers announced today that no hope remained for the missing members of their party and predicted that their bodies would be found when divers reached the vessel on the river bottom.

Shortly after dawn this morning the professional divers started down into the river. Fifty-five feet beneath the surface lies the Norman. There, according to the belief of the police, lie the entrapped bodies of most of the victims of the river tragedy.

The belief prevailed that the divers will find the bodies of the drowned caught in the rigging of the vessel. The Negro members of the crew are presumed to have been caught below decks, with no chance of escape. The death list was not put at 23 until after an extensive, all-night search along the shore and at nearby farm houses for those who might have swam ashore and escaped.

Paul H. Norcross Dead.

Reports that Norcross and others were seen in the water swimming vigorously for the shore have not been borne out, the police declared, and indications were that he went down with the others on the boat. The disaster occurred near Coahoma, 17 miles below Memphis, on the Mississippi.

The engineering party was returning from Cow's Island where an afternoon session of the enginering society had been held and all were in gay mood as they steamed up the Mississippi in the late afternoon sunlight.

There was music on board and much laughter and good spirits. Then the boat began to sway. The crowd on board, numbering more than 60 persons, rushed to one side. The boat rolled back into place and over to its other side. The crowd rushed across the deck. This time it kept on turning. Over it went—on its side. Three times it turned in the water, eye witnesses said, and then shot

"APPRECIATE OUR MOTHERS" IS HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR GIRL'S APPEAL ON EVE OF MOTHERS' DAY

Apropos of Mothers' Day, which will be observed throughout the nation tomorrow, is the tribute to maternal devotion paid today by Miss Grace Ramsey, daughter of W. A. Ramsey, city postoffice employe.

Because of its merit as well as its significance today, the eve of the second Sunday of May which is set aside for tribute to a queen who is secure upon her throne, the oration, "Appreciating Our Mothers," delivered by Miss Ramsey, a member of the 1925 graduating class of the high school, is published by The Review-Tribune.

Miss Ramsey wrote and delivered the oration, for which she was awarded second honors in the English literature class oratorical contest by a vote of her classmates. All orators were members of the senior class taught by Miss Rubiena Ikirt. First place was voted E. K. Bennett, Jr., whose subject was "Electricity—The Greatest Force in the Universe."

By MISS GRACE RAMSEY.

Miss Ramsey's tribute to motherhood follows:

By Miss Grace Ramsey.

"A mother's heart holds many charms
And love is ever in her arms,
And in her eyes a faith divine,
While home is you—O Mother Mine!"

America's youth of today show lack of appreciation, a thing needed above all else. Especially noticeable is the lack of the appreciation of our parents. It is because of this fact that I have chosen the subject of "Appreciating Our Mothers."

A most important responsibility rests upon the shoulders of our mothers, for with them rests the task of training the children upon whom the foundation of our nation's future is built. These early efforts of our mothers' influence make in us a lasting impression, one which lasts all through life. We find that this influence is brought about chiefly by her faith, her hope, and her love. It is about these influential qualities and our duties of appreciation that I have built my subject matter.

To begin with, your mother's faith has been centered about you ever since you were a helpless infant. She has had a faith in you and your strength of character which cannot be fathomed. She has pictured you not as a cowering criminal, but as an honest citizen. You have not realized the extent of her faith in your ability to accomplish as much as others. Be it yours to fulfill her faith.

Influence of Mother's Faith.

Her faith in your perseverance is another quality. Mother does not expect you to follow the path of least resistance, but the path of most achievements. Mother's faith in your final victory is such that even your own dreams have not equaled. Nothing can daunt her faith unless it is your own careless attitude, your failure to follow her teachings. Lives of former great men picture for us the influence and fulfillment of a mother's faith. Today we reverence Lincoln as the saviour of our country. Whence originated that strength of character, that nobility of purpose which we all admire? His own answer was, "All that I am, all that I ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother." What we need is Lincoln's appreciation.

At this period of your life your mother's hopes are high. They are the dreams of her life. They are her hopes of you, your nobility, and your success.

Some of you have lost your mothers; no longer do you have her sympathizing love, but a mother in Heaven is all the more reason why you should follow her early hopes of you.

"Now the old home, vacant, has no
charms for you;
One dear form is absent, Mother, kind
and true;
Evermore she dwells where pleasure
never dies,
If you love your Mother, meet her in the skies.

"Listen to her pleading, 'Wandering
boy, come home!'

"Appreciate Mothers"

Lovingly entreating, do no longer roam;
Let your manhood waken, Heaven ward lift your eyes;
If you love your mother, meet her in the skies."

Appreciate Her Sacrifices.

"And now abideth faith, hope and love, these three; but the greatest of these is Love." Even so a mother's love is the greatest thing you will ever realize in life. Because of it she has sacrificed herself for you, your education, your pleasures and your necessities. Hers is a love that endures through all adversities. She shares your joys and pleasures; sympathizes with your sorrows.

Your earliest memories are ones of joyous days with your mother. She has spent the best years of her life giving love's sacrifice for you; now it is your turn to sacrifice and make her last years happy.

Mother appreciates each little loving word and deed on your part. Your thoughtfulness of her comfort increases that undying love which is a part of your mother. You can give her joy in working to the fulfillment of her hopes. To her we owe obedience, willingness, cheerfulness. In appreciation of her sacrifices, it is ours to practice self denial and thorough application to all tasks. We must advance with dogged perseverance. Through respect to her faith, we must develop nobility of character and humility of heart. By ever keeping in mind the sacrifices of mother's faith, hope and love your appreciation will be manifest, and you will the more fully realize that she

Mothers you, helps you, guides you,
Backs your every plan,
In reasoning sees your point of view,
And then, she understands
Just how you feel, and
Shows a sympathy for you.
She is your mother, so she knows
How your glad days come
And go to come again.
Her faith, her hope, her love goes with
You on life's road to strengthen
Your whole character. For you
It is a duty to obey,
To show appreciation, and
To hold in reverence
The memory of that name—Mother.

School Head

was county community and new knew nothing of his election until he received a letter in today's mail. His selection was unanimous over 26 applicants. He will succeed Charles C. McVay.

Mr. Geiger became head of the East Liverpool schools in 1917 succeeding F. H. Warren, who was elected superintendent of schools as Fostoria. He came to East Liverpool from Dover, neighboring town to New Philadelphia, where he had been located for 20 years, five years as high school principal and 15 years as superintendent. He taught at Carrollton and Lancaster before going to Dover.

He holds elementary and high school state life certificates, having been awarded both by examination in 1899 and 1901. He also has A. M. and Doctor of Pedagogy degrees. For five years he was a member of the state board of school examiners and is a former president of the Ohio State Teachers' association. He has been honored with practically every office in the district and state teachers' organizations. He was one of two city superintendents appointed by Governor Donahey last December to make a study of the school revenue situation.

Board of Education to Act.

Steps looking toward the selection of Superintendent Geiger's successor probably will be taken at the next meeting of the board of education.

Electors of New Philadelphia recently approved a $350,000 bond issue for a new junior high school. Construction of the new school is to be started immediately.

In announcing his appointment to the New Philadelphia post, Prof. Geiger made the following statement today:

"I am almost forced to be a fatilist. It seems that whatever is, is to be. Things just naturally have happened to me all my life. Most of my school positions have just come to me. When I was still a boy on my father's farm, my school career was started when the sons of two school directors drove four miles to tell me that their dads wanted me to take their school for the following winter. My first school position after graduation from college came as the result of a friendly telegram from a board member while I was 100 miles away engaged in another line of work.

Returns to Former Home.

"I must admit that I have applied for a number of superintendencies but I never landed one that I applied for, although I have come very close to some good ones. When I was high school principal at Dover, the board unanimously promoted me to the superintendency while I was out of the city and before I knew the position was vacant.

"Eight years ago I was called to the superintendency in this city without being an applicant. Now comes the call to go back to the community where after an absence of eight years they still seem to appreciate my former services. For the past few months I have been seriously considering several good business propositions, but it is very probable now that I will continue the school game a little while longer.

Expresses Appreciation.

"My contract here will expire next August 31, so I will be on the payroll in this city for four months more. The board of education under the school laws will now be free to receive candidates and to select my successor. I will have ample opportunity to express my appreciation before my contract closes, but there are a few things I wish to say right now.

"I want to thank the editor of the local paper for his courtesy in always giving generous space on the front page for articles published in the interest and welfare of the public schools.

"I also wish to state I have appreciated the splendid co-operation of the ministers in the city during recent years, for we all well know that it is important that the churches and the schools co-operate closely in these days.

"To all friends, patrons, board members, teachers and pupils, I express appreciation of co-operation shown, support given and courtesies extended during my eight years of service in this city."

23 Lives Lost

down to its watery grave, 55 feet below.

Graphic Story of Disaster.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 9.—A graphic story of the sinking of the river steamer Norman, claiming the lives of 23 persons, was told today by W. W. Debard, Chicago, western editor of the engineerings News Record.

Debard and about 20 others were rescued out of the water by Tom Lee, colored, who was cruising nearby in his motor boat, when the Norman sank. Lee rushed survivors to the Tennesee shore.

Just before the disaster, the Norman took a heavy list to the right side, Debard declared. The passengers remained calm.

"The Captain", said Debard, "Immediately ordered the passengers to divide up in even numbers on either side of the boat as soon as some of the passengers hurried to the left side, the boat gave such a violent lurch back that the captain was thrown out of the pilot house and several of those on deck were hurled into the water.

"The Norman then listed to the left side, gradually going lower and lower until finally it went down, bottom side up. Only those who were on deck had a chance of escaping. I was hurled into the water and managed to make my way to Lee's boat.

"Everybody was calm and cool and there was hardly a sign of panic during the entire ordeal.'

Church Asks Payment

was flooded, the floor and much of the furnishings being ruined. It was claimed that considerable damage was caused by the failure of the water to drain from the basement through a sewer which had been closed.

Council authorized the appointment of a committee consisting of Councilmen Hayes, Kerr and Chambers to confer with the church trustees in an effort to effect a satisfactory arrangement.

An ordinance, authorizing the safety director to purchase 1,500 feet of fire hose, three hose nozzles and a one and one-half ton motor chassis for the fire department, was placed on second reading by a vote of four to two. Councilmen Chambers, Rowe, Eardley and Hayes supported the measure, while Solons Farrall and Kerr opposed it.

Farrall said that council, after passing the ordinance on first reading, had decided to table the measure until the need for a motor chassis for the East End station could be determined. Chambers replied that inasmuch as council had arranged no conference with the fire chief, safety director and others, he had conducted an investigation himself and had found that a new truck was needed. Eardly supported Chambers' sentiments. Kerr stated that there appeared to be a difference of opinion on the matter and that he believed council should fully investigate before approving the legislation.

Rural Lane Job Gets O. K.

"I am in favor of buying another truck if it is really needed, but I believe that council should satisfy itself as to the requirements of the fire department before we spend the money," Kerr declared.

In an effort to suspend the rules and pass the ordinance on third reading, Solons Kerr and Farrall continued their opposition and the move was declared lost for lack of the necessary three-fourths majority.

Two resolutions, declaring it necessary to sewer a section of Springdale street and another to sewer part of Smithfield street, were passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. Ordinances determining it necessary to proceed with the improvement of Laura and Riley avenues, Rider and Cove alleys and Garfield street were also passed on three readings.

Councilman Eardley reported that he had investigated the Rural lane improvement job and was satisfied that the work had been done according to the specifications. The complaint concerning street assessments for improvement of McKinnon avenue was referred to the claims committee, solicitor and engineer.

The offer of residents holding property along Vinton alley, East End, to bear two-thirds of the cost of sewering the run, which it is claimed flows along the alley, was referred to the finance committee for action. Property holders of this district have been urging this improvement for several months.

Mayor Reports Collections.

Upon motion of Councilman Farrall, the clerk was instructed to notify D. F. Nellis, St. Clair avenue contractor, to clear the sidewalk on the east side of Ravine street near Bradshaw avenue. The sidewalk at this point, it is charged, is being used for the storage of lumber.

The request of a party to purchase that part of the city property at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Race street for a filling station was referred to the street committee. Council decided that the land should not be sold, but may be leased.

The mayor reported the collection of $1,521.20 during April.

A complaint of Fred Earl, that Perry avenue was being filled above the established grade, damaging his property facing Riverview street, was referred to the city engineer for immediate investigation.

At the request of Service Director A. G. Ellis, council decided to inspect the proposed West Eighth street improvement between the West End school and the city limits next Friday evening. Council will meet at the Liverpool Motor Car company office and be taken to the street in automobiles. The street car company and county commissioners have agreed to share in the cost of this improvement if it is undertaken this summer.

Street Committee Recommendations.

A request for a sewer extension along Holland street in the West End was also turned over to the street committee for investigation.

Councilman Kerr reporting for the street committee recommended that Peter Milliron be granted the use of First street from Union street to Cherry alley. He also reported that the curbs on McKinnon avenue had not been constructed in a workmanlike manner. Other recommedations of the committee included the filling of Booth alley, raising of the curbing at the south-west corner of Chester avenue and Bank street and the resurfacing of Trentvale street.

The committee also reported that a conference had been held with officials of the East Liverpool Sand and Gravel company and that steps had been taken to eliminate noise made by a dredge boat. G. R. Pattison was also instructed to build a retaining wall at the rear of his property in Green lane to prevent dirt from blocking the street. The city solicitor was instructed to notify the Pennsylvania Railroad company to keep their crossings in passable condition or that they will be "compelled to replace all crossings with concrete."

"Appreciate Mothers"

Lovingly entreating, do no longer roam;
Let your manhood waken, Heaven ward lift your eyes;
If you love your mother, meet her in the skies."

Appreciate Her Sacrifices.

"And now abideth faith, hope and love, these three; but the greatest of these is Love." Even so a mother's love is the greatest thing you will ever realize in life. Because of it she has sacrificed herself for you, your education, your pleasures and your necessities. Hers is a love that endures through all adversities. She shares your joys and pleasures; sympathizes with your sorrows.

Your earliest memories are ones of joyous days with your mother. She has spent the best years of her life giving love's sacrifice for you; now it is your turn to sacrifice and make her last years happy.

Mother appreciates each little loving word and deed on your part. Your thoughtfulness of her comfort increases that undying love which is a part of your mother. You can give her joy in working to the fulfillment of her hopes. To her we owe obedience, willingness, cheerfulness. In appreciation of her sacrifices, it is ours to practice self denial and thorough application to all tasks. We must advance with dogged perseverance. Through respect to her faith, we must develop nobility of character and humility of heart. By ever keeping in mind the sacrifices of mother's faith, hope and love your appreciation will be manifest, and you will the more fully realize that she

Mothers you, helps you, guides you,
Backs your every plan,
In reasoning sees your point of view,
And then, she understands
Just how you feel, and
Shows a sympathy for you.
She is your mother, so she knows
How your glad days come
And go to come again.
Her faith, her hope, her love goes with
You on life's road to strengthen
Your whole character. For you
It is a duty to obey,
To show appreciation, and
To hold in reverence
The memory of that name—Mother.

School Head

was county community and new knew nothing of his election until he received a letter in today's mail. His selection was unanimous over 26 applicants. He will succeed Charles C. McVay.

Mr. Geiger became head of the East Liverpool schools in 1917 succeeding F. H. Warren, who was elected superintendent of schools as Fostoria. He came to East Liverpool from Dover, neighboring town to New Philadelphia, where he had been located for 20 years, five years as high school principal and 15 years as superintendent. He taught at Carrollton and Lancaster before going to Dover.

He holds elementary and high school state life certificates, having been awarded both by examination in 1899 and 1901. He also has A. M. and Doctor of Pedagogy degrees. For five years he was a member of the state board of school examiners and is a former president of the Ohio State Teachers' association. He has been honored with practically every office in the district and state teachers' organizations. He was one of two city superintendents appointed by Governor Donahey last December to make a study of the school revenue situation.

Board of Education to Act.

Steps looking toward the selection of Superintendent Geiger's successor probably will be taken at the next meeting of the board of education.

Electors of New Philadelphia recently approved a $350,000 bond issue for a new junior high school. Construction of the new school is to be started immediately.

In announcing his appointment to the New Philadelphia post, Prof. Geiger made the following statement today:

"I am almost forced to be a fatilist. It seems that whatever is, is to be. Things just naturally have happened to me all my life. Most of my school positions have just come to me. When I was still a boy on my father's farm, my school career was started when the sons of two school directors drove four miles to tell me that their dads wanted me to take their school for the following winter. My first school position after graduation from college came as the result of a friendly telegram from a board member while I was 100 miles away engaged in another line of work.

Returns to Former Home.

"I must admit that I have applied for a number of superintendencies but I never landed one that I applied for, although I have come very close to some good ones. When I was high school principal at Dover, the board unanimously promoted me to the superintendency while I was out of the city and before I knew the position was vacant.

"Eight years ago I was called to the superintendency in this city without being an applicant. Now comes the call to go back to the community where after an absence of eight years they still seem to appreciate my former services. For the past few months I have been seriously considering several good business propositions, but it is very probable now that I will continue the school game a little while longer.

Expresses Appreciation.

"My contract here will expire next August 31, so I will be on the payroll in this city for four months more. The board of education under the school laws will now be free to receive candidates and to select my successor. I will have ample opportunity to express my appreciation before my contract closes, but there are a few things I wish to say right now.

"I want to thank the editor of the local paper for his courtesy in always giving generous space on the front page for articles published in the interest and welfare of the public schools.

"I also wish to state I have appreciated the splendid co-operation of the ministers in the city during recent years, for we all well know that it is important that the churches and the schools co-operate closely in these days.

"To all friends, patrons, board members, teachers and pupils, I express appreciation of co-operation shown, support given and courtesies extended during my eight years of service in this city."

down to its watery grave, 55 feet below.

Graphic Story of Disaster.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 9.—A graphic story of the sinking of the river steamer Norman, claiming the lives of 23 persons, was told today by W. W. Debard, Chicago, western editor of the engineerings News Record.

Debard and about 20 others were rescued out of the water by Tom Lee, colored, who was cruising nearby in his motor boat, when the Norman sank. Lee rushed survivors to the Tennesee shore.

Just before the disaster, the Norman took a heavy list to the right side, Debard declared. The passengers remained calm.

"The Captain", said Debard, "Immediately ordered the passengers to divide up in even numbers on either side of the boat as soon as some of the passengers hurried to the left side, the boat gave such a violent lurch back that the captain was thrown out of the pilot house and several of those on deck were hurled into the water.

"The Norman then listed to the left side, gradually going lower and lower until finally it went down, bottom side up. Only those who were on deck had a chance of escaping. I was hurled into the water and managed to make my way to Lee's boat.

"Everybody was calm and cool and there was hardly a sign of panic during the entire ordeal."

Church Asks Payment

was flooded, the floor and much of the furnishings being ruined. It was claimed that considerable damage was caused by the failure of the water to drain from the basement through a sewer which had been closed.

Council authorized the appointment of a committee consisting of Councilmen Hayes, Kerr and Chambers to confer with the church trustees in an effort to effect a satisfactory arrangement.

An ordinance, authorizing the safety director to purchase 1,500 feet of fire hose, three hose nozzles and a one and one-half ton motor chassis for the fire department, was placed on second reading by a vote of four to two. Councilmen Chambers, Rowe, Eardley and Hayes supported the measure, while Solons Farrall and Kerr opposed it.

Farrall said that council, after passing the ordinance on first reading, had decided to table the measure until the need for a motor chassis for the East End station could be determined. Chambers replied that inasmuch as council had arranged no conference with the fire chief, safety director and others, he had conducted an investigation himself and had found that a new truck was needed. Eardly supported Chambers' sentiments. Kerr stated that there appeared to be a difference of opinion on the matter and that he believed council should fully investigate before approving the legislation.

Rural Lane Job Gets O. K.

"I am in favor of buying another truck if it is really needed, but I believe that council should satisfy itself as to the requirements of the fire department before we spend the money," Kerr declared.

In an effort to suspend the rules and pass the ordinance on third reading, Solons Kerr and Farrall continued their opposition and the move was declared lost for lack of the necessary three-fourths majority.

Two resolutions, declaring it necessary to sewer a section of Springdale street and another to sewer part of Smithfield street, were passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. Ordinances determining it necessary to proceed with the improvement of Laura and Riley avenues, Rider and Cove alleys and Garfield street were also passed on three readings.

Councilman Eardley reported that he had investigated the Rural lane improvement job and was satisfied that the work had been done according to the specifications. The complaint concerning street assessments for improvement of McKinnon avenue was referred to the claims committee, solicitor and engineer.

The offer of residents holding property along Vinton alley, East End, to bear two-thirds of the cost of sewering the run, which it is claimed flows along the alley, was referred to the finance committee for action. Property holders of this district have been urging this improvement for several months.

Mayor Reports Collections.

Upon motion of Councilman Farrall, the clerk was instructed to notify D. F. Nellis, St. Clair avenue contractor, to clear the sidewalk on the east side of Ravine street near Bradshaw avenue. The sidewalk at this point, it is charged, is being used for the storage of lumber.

The request of a party to purchase that part of the city property at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Race street for a filling station was referred to the street committee. Council decided that the land should not be sold, but may be leased.

The mayor reported the collection of $1,521.20 during April.

A complaint of Fred Earl, that Perry avenue was being filled above the established grade, damaging his property facing Riverview street, was referred to the city engineer for immediate investigation.

At the request of Service Director A. G. Ellis, council decided to inspect the proposed West Eighth street improvement between the West End school and the city limits next Friday evening. Council will meet at the Liverpool Motor Car company office and be taken to the street in automobiles. The street car company and county commissioners have agreed to share in the cost of this improvement if it is undertaken this summer.

Street Committee Recommendations.

A request for a sewer extension along Holland street in the West End was also turned over to the street committee for investigation.

Councilman Kerr reporting for the street committee recommended that Peter Milliron be granted the use of First street from Union street to Cherry alley. He also reported that the curbs on McKinnon avenue had not been constructed in a workmanlike manner. Other recommendations of the committee included the filling of Booth alley, raising of the curbing at the south-west corner of Chester avenue and Bank street and the resurfacing of Trentvale street.

The committee also reported that a conference had been held with officials of the East Liverpool Sand and Gravel company and that steps had been taken to eliminate noise made by a dredge boat. G. R. Pattison was also instructed to build a retaining wall at the rear of his property in Green lane to prevent dirt from blocking the street. The city solicitor was instructed to notify the Pennsylvania Railroad company to keep their crossings in passable condition or that they will be "compelled to replace all crossings with concrete."

PITTSBURGH MAN PAYS $1,000 FINE

Max Cransfield, of Pittsburgh, who was arrested Tuesday night upon charges of transporting intoxicating liquor, was released by the police yesterday afternoon after he had made arrangements to settle a $1,000 fine imposed by Mayor Brown.

Cransfield is alleged to have been bringing what is said to have been bonded brandy into East Liverpool from Pittsburgh. He was arrested upon information said by the police to have been furnished by a relative.

Eighty-six guests attended the "Mother andson" banquet given at the Y. M. C. A. at 615 o'clock, last evening, under the auspices of the Boys' Department.

W. H. Nagel, general secretary, spoke briefly concerning the work of the Y. M. C. A. in foreign countries. A talk was also made by Harvey Price, boys' work director, who arranged the affair. Other features of the program included a vocal solo by Mrs. Paul Emge, accompanied by Miss Mildred Rose; violin solo by Ralph Jones; recitation by Elmer English, and a piano solo by Edwin Wheeler. MARBLE GROWS, IS SHOWN BY TESTS

Contraction Is Less Constant Than Expansion.

Washington.—Marble buildings of the United States are growing.

This remarkable fact has been disclosed by a survey of thermal expansion of stone conducted by the United States bureau of standards.

"Marble, especially, shows peculiarities in its behavior under temperature changes," the announcement said.

"It expands on heating, but when cooled to the original temperature it does not shrink to its original dimensions; that is, it retains a part of the expansion as a permanent growth.

"Specimens have been measured under low temperature and found to expand when cooled below normal, which, also, is contrary to the usual conception."

These queer characteristics of the action of stone, even under changes of heat caused by summer and winter, are held accountable for the peculiar instances of warping, which are sometimes noted in marble headstones in cemeteries.

The assumption has been, it was said, that stone expands at a uniform rate in all intermediate temperatures, these deductions being based on a limited number of observations. The present data was termed misleading.

Determinations at the bureau of standards, at which frequent length measurements were made on limestone and marble specimens as the temperatures were raised, indicated that these old assumptions are far from correct.

"For small increases in temperature above normal the expansion is very small, but the rate increases rapidly as the temperature rises," officials declared.

"At 100 degrees centigrade the average expansion of marble is about the same as that of steel, but at 200 degrees the rate is approximately doubled, while for temperatures a few degrees above normal expansion is only a fractional part of that of steel."

Has Long Jail Term.

Failure to send the transcript to county authorities promptly, caused Robert Neal of Wellsville, to spend 100 days in jail, it was brought out in probate court yesterday, when Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes announced that the paper from the court of Mayor Barnes, of Wellsville, had not been filed in common pleas court until May 5.

This, the court announced, was a most unusual procedure, and another charge was immediately made out in probate court against Neal charging him with non-support. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. But Judge Riddle, in view of the fact that Neal had already had a long stay behind the bars, suspended the new sentence.

Neal was released.

MILL WORKER INJURED HERE

Carl Kelly 28, Taken to Allegheny Hospital.

Carl Kelly, 28 years old, son of Charles Kelly, of Main street, and an employe of the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant, is in the Allegheny General hospital as a result of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon while at work at the mill.

Kelly's feet were badly bruised and burned when a load of hot iron dropped on them.

The young man was employed as a member of a crane crew. While engaged in unhooking a load of hot metal, it is said, the iron dropped suddenly and covered his feet before he was able to step out of the way.

The injuries were dressed temporarily by Dr. J. S. McCulloch and Kelly was removed to the Allegheny General hospital. He will probably be unable to use his feet before six weeks, physicians said today.

"MOTHER'S DAY" TO BE OBSERVED

Special services in honor of mother's day will be held in practically all the local churches tomorrow.

Pastors generally will refer to the occasion in appropriate sermons. In several of the churches special musical programs are being arranged.

Both music and sermon will honor "mother" as the First United Presbyterian church at services in the evening. The music will be provided by mothers from the congregation, in charge of Mrs. F. E. Vernia. There will be quartet and octet selections.

Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor, will deliver a sermon, the second in the series on "Spiritual Shipwrecks," in connection with the services. The topic will be, "The Man Who Told His Secret to a Woman." Flowers will be given to each mother at the services. And auto transportation will be provided for any mother who may desire it.

Sunday school exercises and morning worship at the First Methodist Protestant church will be devoted to mother's day services. There will be appropriate music. Rev. R. Ernest Game's sermon subject is, "Christ and Motherhood."

"Mother, Home and God" will be the topic of a sermon at the evening services by Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor of the First Christian church.

Sunday school and morning services will be combined at the First Evangelical church, in charge of Rev. C. W. Johnston, pastor. Rev. Johnston's sermon subject is, "The Person Who Did More for You Than Anyone on Earth."

Rev. Frank H. Magill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has selected the subject, "The Home Blessed of God" for his sermon at the morning services. A musical program will be given in connection with the services.

The Bible school at the Second Presbyterian church will consider the "Mother" theme. Rev. Thomas Berger's morning sermon subject will be "A Mother's Desire."

Hold Guest Night.

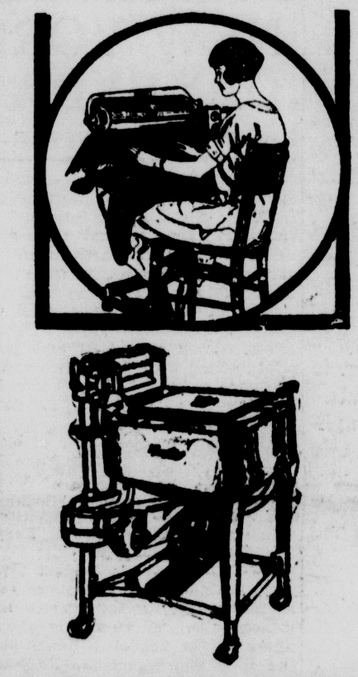

Guest night was observed when the Senior Vivace met Thursday evening at the home of the instructor, Miss Jean Fogo, in Riverside avenue.

A short program was given, consisting of a reading by Hesper West, a violine solo by Virginia Crowl, and a piano solo by Ruth Coleman. "Scarlotti and Music in France in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries" was the study of the evening.

Rereshments were served at the close of the program.

MOTHER
No matter how punctilious we are in meeting our obligations, there is one that can never be paid—our debt to Mother. And as Her Day approaches, let us do our best to show her our appreciation. If she be no longer with us, let it be a day of tender remembrance. If we still have her, let us remember her with flowers, or a visit, or a lasting gift of furniture. For Mother's Day comes but once a year—and on that day she deserves the attention of even the busiest sons and daughters!
Here you will find any number of suitable gifts for mother—gifts that will tend to lighten her load and give her more time for pleasure. Let us suggest an electric washer or ironer, electric hand iron or Hoover cleaner.

Determinations at the bureau of standards, at which frequent length measurements were made on limestone and marble specimens as the temperatures were raised, indicated that these old assumptions are far from correct.

"For small increases in temperature above normal the expansion is very small, but the rate increases rapidly as the temperature rises," officials declared.

"At 100 degrees centigrade the average expansion of marble is about the same as that of steel, but at 200 degrees the rate is approximately doubled, while for temperatures a few degrees above normal expansion is only a fractional part of that of steel."

Has Long Jail Term.

Failure to send the transcript to county authorities promptly, caused Robert Neal of Wellsville, to spend 100 days in jail, it was brought out in probate court yesterday, when Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes announced that the paper from the court of Mayor Barnes, of Wellsville, had not been filed in common pleas court until May 5.

This, the court announced, was a most unusual procedure, and another charge was immediately made out in probate court against Neal charging him with non-support. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. But Judge Riddle, in view of the fact that Neal had already had a long stay behind the bars, suspended the new sentence.

Neal was released.

MILL WORKER INJURED HERE

Carl Kelly 28, Taken to Allegheny Hospital.

Carl Kelly, 28 years old, son of Charles Kelly, of Main street, and an employe of the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant, is in the Allegheny General hospital as a result of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon while at work at the mill.

Kelly's feet were badly bruised and burned when a load of hot iron dropped on them.

The young man was employed as a member of a crane crew. While engaged in unhooking a load of hot metal, it is said, the iron dropped suddenly and covered his feet before he was able to step out of the way.

The injuries were dressed temporarily by Dr. J. S. McCulloch and Kelly was removed to the Allegheny General hospital. He will probably be unable to use his feet before six weeks, physicians said today.

"MOTHER'S DAY" TO BE OBSERVED

Special services in honor of mother's day will be held in practically all the local churches tomorrow.

Pastors generally will refer to the occasion in appropriate sermons. In several of the churches special musical programs are being arranged.

Both music and sermon will honor "mother" as the First United Presbyterian church at services in the evening. The music will be provided by mothers from the congregation, in charge of Mrs. F. E. Vernia. There will be quartet and octet selections.

Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor, will deliver a sermon, the second in the series on "Spiritual Shipwrecks," in connection with the services. The topic will be, "The Man Who Told His Secret to a Woman." Flowers will be given to each mother at the services. And auto transportation will be provided for any mother who may desire it.

Sunday school exercises and morning worship at the First Methodist Protestant church will be devoted to mother's day services. There will be appropriate music. Rev. R. Ernest Game's sermon subject is, "Christ and Motherhood."

"Mother, Home and God" will be the topic of a sermon at the evening services by Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor of the First Christian church.

Sunday school and morning services will be combined at the First Evangelical church, in charge of Rev. C. W. Johnston, pastor. Rev. Johnston's sermon subject is, "The Person Who Did More for You Than Anyone on Earth."

Rev. Frank H. Magill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has selected the subject, "The Home Blessed of God" for his sermon at the morning services. A musical program will be given in connection with the services.

The Bible school at the Second Presbyterian church will consider the "Mother" theme. Rev. Thomas Berger's morning sermon subject will be "A Mother's Desire."

Hold Guest Night.

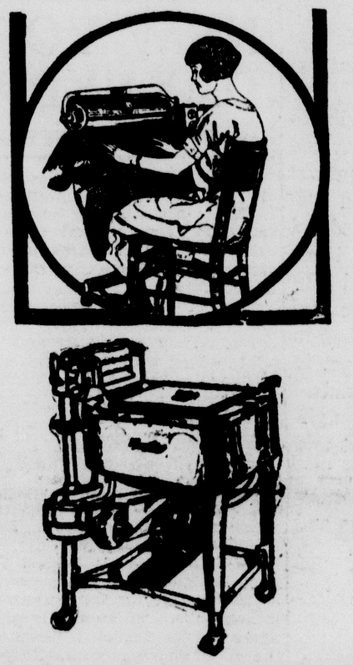

Guest night was observed when the Senior Vivace met Thursday evening at the home of the instructor, Miss Jean Fogo, in Riverside avenue.

A short program was given, consisting of a reading by Hesper West, a violine solo by Virginia Crowl, and a piano solo by Ruth Coleman. "Scarlotti and Music in France in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centruries" was the study of the evening.

Rereshments were served at the close of the program.

MOTHER
No matter how punctilious we are in meeting our obligations, there is one that can never be paid—our debt to Mother. And as Her Day approaches, let us do our best to show her our appreciation. If she be no longer with us, let it be a day of tender remembrance. If we still have her, let us remember her with flowers, or a visit, or a lasting gift of furniture. For Mother's Day comes but once a year—and on that day she deserves the attention of even the busiest sons and daughters!
Here you will find any number of suitable gifts for mother—gifts that will tend to lighten her load and give her more time for pleasure. Let us suggest an electric washer or ironer, electric hand iron or Hoover cleaner.

Help The Playground Movement

The annual appeal for the co-operation of the public in the support of the playground movement will be made on Saturday, May 23, Playground Day, by the recreation committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

Approximately $1,200 will be required to maintain the recreation center at Second and Washington streets during the summer, Mrs. John T. Bowers, Playground Day chairman, says. Last year about $1,150 was collected.

Club women, assisted by high school girls, will sell novelties in the campaign to raise playground funds. Any sum from five cents to $5 or more will be accepted.

Mothers and fathers and big brothers and sisters should support the movement, for supervised recreation not only means better health for Young America, but is also an important factor in curtailing the toll of traffic accidents, many of which are attributable to children playing in the streets.

The Biggest Highway Plan

"The world's greatest public work," says a highway engineer, "is the United States road system." It is not only the biggest highway system but the biggest program of public construction.

The federal aid highway act of 1921 may be said really to have inaugurated this gigantic undertaking because it provided for a connected and correlated system of highways throughout the country. Every state was asked to map out a proposed system of more or less direct cross-state routes. Then the federal bureau of public roads checked up on these and revised them where necessary just enough to create a comprehensive and connected whole, complete for the country regardless of state and county boundary lines. This system is expected to be finished in 12 years, and it will be then, exclusive of bridges, equivalent in amount of material moved to approximately two Panama canals.

This great highway system sends its big main thoroughfares east and west and north and south across the continent and links every section, directly or indirectly, with every other section. And over its many miles of good pavement, as fast as they are completed, go millions of the nation's citizens, on business and on pleasure, gaining in widened outlook and interest.

Musical Progress

Music-lovers used to worry about the musical soul of America, and some of them do yet. But there is no need to.

The music fans of Cleveland used to worry about the musical soul of that city particularly. It was so dull, dumb and dead to good music! It didn't even care for bad music. It was almost impossible to get out enough people to pay for a good concert. That was only a few years ago.

Well, Cleveland has just had a nine-days' run of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York. There were 10 performances, with the attendance averaging 8,000. Which is to say that 80,000 people—some of them repeaters, of course—paid an average of about $3 apiece to hear grand opera. It broke the attendance records of the famous opera company.

The big public hall, affording plenty of room for a crowd and a fine setting for dramatic spectacles, had something to do with the matter. But the big factor was the musical awakening of the city.

There is a musical awakening in nearly every live American city today, with progress rapid or slow, according to the zeal of the local music leaders.

The Aged Swimmer

"You can't teach an old dog new tricks," they said, when Mrs. Henrietta Maslen, aged 72, went to a swimming pool in a city big and wise enough to have such luxuries, and announced that she intended learning to swim.

Mrs. Maslen had never tried to swim in her life, but didn't see any reason why she couldn't. She was moved to emulation when her married daughter passed a life-saving test. "I guess I can do anything my children can," she said.

That was two years ago. She learned to swim across the pool in a few weeks. She mastered the breast stroke, the side stroke, back stroke, Australian crawl, back dive and various other maneuvers. She made better progress than many of the young girls. She is now an accomplished water-dog.

She not only enjoys the swimming, but says it has cured her of nervousness.

Here is encouragement for a lot of young folks who imagine they're too old to swim. Also a reminder of the novel and sensible rule recently adopted by Vassar college, that no girl hereafter shall be given a diploma unless she can swim.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 9.—Manhattan is filled with psychic professors who intensify the soul for so much "per intense." One journal that accepts their professional cards show there are some 150 imparting various mental vibrations to the soul weary.

Most of them are ensconced in ornate apartments along Riverside Drive. They are sleek and professorial looking with Van Dykes and horn rimmed glasses. They offer much high-blown abracadabra to impress seekers after new truths.

There is a pungent odor of incense, crystal balls shot with strange lights and shelves of ponderous books. The professors are usually in exotic robes and turbaned to give a mysterious atmosphere of Orientalism. They are silken voiced and suave.

Rich and neurotic women flock to them in limousines. They pay as high as $50 a visit for the curious mental infiltrations. There are lovely metaphors to be repeated parrot-like by the class and sometimes deep-breathing exercises and silences.

It is said the professors exchange names of their patients for their patrons usually go from one to the other in the chase for chimerical panacea. All sorts of pseudo-scientific devices are brought into play. The professors are above any legal entanglements.

They do not treat the body. They treat the soul. Many have been arrested but very few have been convicted. That they prosper amazingly is revealed in the wealth of one who had his "students" walk barefoot in the morning dew and bathe in the sun rays.

He owns a magnificent castle up along the Hudson and his terraced gardens cost some $100,000. He is reliably reported to have been a former livery stable keeper in the state of Washington. Two others have bought the apartment building in which they reside.

There stands in Central Park a heroic statue of a man so little known that not one in thousands can tell you anything about him. It is a statue of Simon Bolivar, the South American liberator. It was presented to the city in 1920 by the Venezuela government. Bolivar was the foremost champion of freedom in Latin America and died virtually ostracized by his countrymen.

I recently saw the price list of a Bowery cut-throat gangster. It was taken from his pocket by the police. Here are his prices: Punching, $2; Both eyes blacked, $4; Nose and jaw broke, $10; Jacked out, (knocked out with a black jack) $15; Ear chawed off $15; Leg or arm broke, $19; Shot in leg, $25; Stab, $25; Doing the Big Job, $100 and up. Prices have gone up in the past ten years. In the year of 1912 when the Zelig and Sirocco and Tricker gangs were warring with each other the price of murder was $10.

The gangsters used to have a term "Putting him on the boat!" It meant the victim of hired vengeance would be seen no more. It is said that in one year 16 men were "put on the boat." No trace of them has ever been found.

However, the death of the gambler Herman Rosenthal really ended the bloody gang wars that characterized New York's East Side of 20 years ago. The gangster is a coward. The electrocution of Police Lieutenant Becker threw a fear into them from which they have never recovered. They do not run in packs. They fear the "squealer" and when they go out to kill they go alone.

All of the old time gangsters died as they lived — by the gun. Julie Morrell, Big Jack Zelig, Monk Eastman, Red Harirngton, Kid Dropper, Louis the Lump, and Kid Twist were pistoled by rivals.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Coordinating Welfare Work.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—It has been realized by welfare workers all over the country that in order to promote the greatest efficiency, and to avoid duplication of effort, there should be some sort of central agency where representatives of the different organizations might confer. Accordingly in nearly every city in the United States having a population of 100,000 or more there is now a Council of Social Agencies.

The Washington Council of Social Agencies was organized about four years ago. Its membership consists of 36 private agencies and 20 public ones. The private agencies are composed of hospitals, church societies and welfare societies of non-sectarian character. The public agencies are represented by such organizations as health department of the District of Columbia, the juvenile court, the district jail, tuberculosis hospital, etc. These latter are supported by government appropriations.

No organization will be admitted to the council unless it has been approved by the endorsement committee. This committee is appointed by the commissioners of the District of Columbia from various civic organizations, such as the Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce and the Women's City club. Its purpose is to protect the public against fraudulent charities. It makes a personal investigation into the method of procedure of a society seeking membership, and also into its financial standing.

Prior to the organization of the council at Christmas time there was a particularly great amount of duplication in giving. It was often found that one family had perhaps three or four baskets, while next door would be an equally needy family which had received nothing.

This was frequently due to the fact that the first family would hear that several agencies were offering to furnish baskets to those who could not afford to make any Christmas preparations for their children. With great canniness this family would apply to each one of these agencies, and they without investigation would send along a basket. On the other hand, the family next door perhaps had more pride and less foresight, and therefore went without anything.

Giving More Systematized.

Since the organization of the council this Christmas giving has become more systematized. Last year the council invited the cooperation of all the various civic and social organizations, even though they were not members.

Fifteen of these outside organizations responded to this call for more effective Christmas giving. A special committee was formed which was composed in part of member agencies and in part of civic organizations. The office of the council became a central registration and every application was filed there. These were checked over, and where more than one agency had received an application from the same family, those agencies were notified and asked to get together and confer as to which would supply the basket. It was found that out of eleven hundred names filed by these cooperating agencies, there were 103 duplicates. Some of these had been duplicated as many as five times. By this checking system the agencies were able to reach 103 more families, which under the old haphazard method would doubtless have been neglected.

It is being advocated that instead of the baskets at Christmas something of more lasting benefit be given. Perhaps a tubercular child needs milk which his parents are not in a position to furnish. It is suggested that an amount equal to that which would be spent on a basket, be applied to a daily supply of milk. Or a scholarship might be given to some particularly apt child in order that he might be fitted to take up his life's work.

The council is divided into four standing committees: Family, children, health and recreation. As a further demonstration of the practicability of cooperation, last spring the health committee had charge of Health week, which was designed to stimulate public interest in local health needs and resources. Ten private agencies and 12 hospitals participated in this work. A program of health talks was arranged, and an exhibit assembled. Health demonstrations were given in the same building where the exhibit was on view. A predominant purpose of Health week was to impress upon the public the importance of having physical examinations every year whether in good or ill health.

Aids in Securing Legislation.

United rather than individual effort is felt to be much more effective in urging the passage of certain legislation regarding welfare work. For instance if certain welfare agencies are interested in the passage of a particular bill they now get together, discuss all its phases and come to some general agreement. Then a committee is appointed which lays the matter before the proper house or senate committee. Certainly this would have more force than if representatives from the individual agencies went before the committee, each in favor of the measure, but with certain modifications.

SATURDAY, MAY 9, 1925.

Help The Playground Movement

The annual appeal for the co-operation of the public in the support of the playground movement will be made on Saturday, May 23, Playground Day, by the recreation committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

Approximately $1,200 will be required to maintain the recreation center at Second and Washington streets during the summer, Mrs. John T. Bowers, Playground Day chairman, says. Last year about $1,150 was collected.

Club women, assisted by high school girls, will sell novelties in the campaign to raise playground funds. Any sum from five cents to $5 or more will be accepted.

Mothers and fathers and big brothers and sisters should support the movement, for supervised recreation not only means better health for Young America, but is also an important factor in curtailing the toll of traffic accidents, many of which are attributable to children playing in the streets.

The Biggest Highway Plan

"The world's greatest public work," says a highway engineer, "is the United States road system." It is not only the biggest highway system but the biggest program of public construction.

The federal aid highway act of 1921 may be said really to have inaugurated this gigantic undertaking because it provided for a connected and correlated system of highways throughout the country. Every state was asked to map out a proposed system of more or less direct cross-state routes. Then the federal bureau of public roads checked up on these and revised them where necessary just enough to create a comprehensive and connected whole, complete for the country regardless of state and county boundary lines. This system is expected to be finished in 12 years, and it will be then, exclusive of bridges, equivalent in amount of material moved to approximately two Panama canals.

This great highway system sends its big main thoroughfares east and west and north and south across the continent and links every section, directly or indirectly, with every other section. And over its many miles of good pavement, as fast as they are completed, go millions of the nation's citizens, on business and on pleasure, gaining in widened outlook and interest.

Musical Progress

Music-lovers used to worry about the musical soul of America, and some of them do yet. But there is no need to.

The music fans of Cleveland used to worry about the musical soul of that city particularly. It was so dull, dumb and dead to good music! It didn't even care for bad music. It was almost impossible to get out enough people to pay for a good concert. That was only a few years ago.

Well, Cleveland has just had a nine-days' run of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York. There were 10 performances, with the attendance averaging 8,000. Which is to say that 80,000 people—some of them repeaters, of course—paid an average of about $3 apiece to hear grand opera. It broke the attendance records of the famous opera company.

The big public hall, affording plenty of room for a crowd and a fine setting for dramatic spectacles, had something to do with the matter. But the big factor was the musical awakening of the city.

There is a musical awakening in nearly every live American city today, with progress rapid or slow, according to the zeal of the local music leaders.

The Aged Swimmer

"You can't teach an old dog new tricks," they said, when Mrs. Henrietta Maslen, aged 72, went to a swimming pool in a city big and wise enough to have such luxuries, and announced that she intended learning to swim.

Mrs. Maslen had never tried to swim in her life, but didn't see any reason why she couldn't. She was moved to emulation when her married daughter passed a life-saving test. "I guess I can do anything my children can," she said.

That was two years ago. She learned to swim across the pool in a few weeks. She mastered the breast stroke, the side stroke, back stroke, Australian crawl, back dive and various other maneuvers. She made better progress than many of the young girls. She is now an accomplished water-dog.

She not only enjoys the swimming, but says it has cured her of nervousness.

Here is encouragement for a lot of young folks who imagine they're too old to swim. Also a reminder of the novel and sensible rule recently adopted by Vassar college, that no girl hereafter shall be given a diploma unless she can swim.

Two women in Detroit put their arms around a stranger and robbed him of $500. Must we disarm our female bandits like the Venus de Milo?

Even though international peace efforts are mostly conversational, as long as the world is talking peace it isn't fighting.

Mussolini has succeeded in making Italy so prosperous that the cost of living there is the highest in the world—six times as high as it was before the war.

Bulgaria keeps right on trying to reconstruct itself with dynamite.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 9.—Manhattan is filled with psychic professors who intensify the soul for so much "per intense." One journal that accepts their professional cards show there are some 150 imparting various mental vibrations to the soul weary.

Most of them are ensconced in ornate apartments along Riverside Drive. They are sleek and professorial looking with Van Dykes and horn rimmed glasses. They offer much high-blown abracadabra to impress seekers after new truths.

There is a pungent odor of incense, crystal balls shot with strange lights and shelves of ponderous books. The professors are usually in exotic robes and turbaned to give a mysterious atmosphere of Orientalism. They are silken voiced and suave.

Rich and neurotic women flock to them in limousines. They pay as high as $50 a visit for the curious mental infiltrations. There are lovely metaphors to be repeated parrot-like by the class and sometimes deep-breathing exercises and silences.

It is said the professors exchange names of their patients for their patrons usually go from one to the other in the chase for chimerical panacea. All sorts of pseudo-scientific devices are brought into play. The professors are above any legal entanglements.

They do not treat the body. They treat the soul. Many have been arrested but very few have been convicted. That they prosper amazingly is revealed in the wealth of one who had his "students" walk barefoot in the morning dew and bathe in the sun rays.

He owns a magnificent castle up along the Hudson and his terraced gardens cost some $100,000. He is reliably reported to have been a former livery stable keeper in the state of Washington. Two others have bought the apartment building in which they reside.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PLAN TO PROCEED WITH ROAD WORK

Program Approved by State Highway Director Boulay Will be Rushed to Completion.

In obtaining an appropriation of $120,875 from the state highway department, the county commissioners will now be able to go through with a road program that has been under serious consideration ever since the present board has been in office, and at the same time will insure completion of road projects that were launched by the old board.

In his conference with the commissioners, State Highway Director L. A. Boulay declared that the road map presented by the commissioners, as worked up by Clerk L. H. Johnson proved to him the necessity of immediate attention to road work in this county so far as the state was concerned.

"I have never had anything laid on my desk that is so clear as this map," Mr. Zoulay commented. "The great trouble with a lot of commissioners is, that when they come here for a conference they do not know what they want, but in your case, you always have your briefs properly prepared, and this is much to your credit."

In appropriating $20,000 for use on I. C. H. No. 502, which is the East Liverpool-Youngstown road north of the Cox highway to the Columbiana-Yellow Creek township, the county will also put $20,000 into this project.

While the state has put $56,250 in the Wellsville-Salineville project in Yellow Creek township, the county will put $60,000 into this job, which insures the completion of the surfacing of this road east from Highlandtown to the end of the brick road north of Wellsville. It is very likely that the state will award this contract either in the June or July letting. It will also be insisted upon by the state that this surfacing be completed this year, and this will insure an improved road betwen East Liverpool and Salineville before winter.

"We're tired of the East Liverpool-Wellsville road being closed every year," Mr. Boulay is quoted as remarking to the commissioners, and he then set aside $22,500 for the resurfacing and widening of this road from Silver switch east to the west end of the Taigenhorst job which was furnished last fall. This work will be done while the road is being improved at the East Liverpool end, and also at the Wellsville end—all work being done at the time the road is closed for these improvements.

The state has also set aside $25,000 for the Unity-Petersburg road, and this project will go through this season, providing the county can secure sufficient funds to match the appropriation of the state. It is proposed to place a macadam surface on this project.

Inasmuch as the state has put only $1,000 into the grading of the Hanover-Salem road in Hanover township, the Hanover trustees now have $44,000 to put into the project. The action of the state on this project insures the surfacing of this road next year between Hanover and Winona in Butler township. The grading on this road in Butler township was finished several years ago.

The state and the county will go 50-50 in widening the one way bridge on the Lincoln highway over the old canal at Kensington. The state has put $1,125 into this job. This bridge will be rebuilt within the next few months.

The Wellsville-Salineville road in Yellow Creek township will have a concrete top, while paving block will be used on the Wellsville-East Liverpool road. This will match the type of construction at either end of the road. Concrete will also be used on that part of 502 that is to be built north of the Cox highway.

American
THEATRE
Three Days Starting Monday

Gerald Beaumont's Racing Story Made Into Picture

"The Dixie Handicap," Reginald Barker's new production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer which is coming to the American theatre Monday, is a screen version of a story called "Dixie" by Gerald Beaumont that appeared in the Red Book Magazine.

It tells how the lost glory of an aristocratic Southern family was brought back by a horse and the young man who trained her. Full of the most thrilling incidents imaginable, and also possessing an unusually beautiful love angle, the story makes perfect screen material. Waldemar Young, who wrote the continuity for "The Great Divide," was the adapter of "The "Dixie Handicap."

The cast includes such notable players as Frank Keenan as Judge Roberts; Claire Windsor as his daughter, Virginia; Lloyd Huges as "The Dancin' Kid," who, in spite of his slangy title, is the hero; John Sainpolis in the villain role; Otis Harlan as a faithful darky; Joseph Morison, Otto Hoffman, Edward Martindel, Ruth King, and others.

Five Divorce Decrees Granted Here Friday By Judge J. G. Moore

Five divorces were granted by Judge James G. Moore following brief hearings in common pleas court, and one of the cases after settlement in the higher court was certified to the Juvenile court.

This cause was that of Daniel Weddle against his wife Ida Weddle. The plaintiff in this action was given a decree, and he was then ordered to pay $7.50 per week to the Fairmount Children's home for the keep of the children he has there. When the original petition to padlock the property was filed it was said that Fratilla occupied the two store rooms, but since then he has leased one side of the building to others.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PLAN TO PROCEED WITH ROAD WORK

Program Approved by State Highway Director Boulay Will be Rushed to Completion.

In obtaining an appropriation of $120,875 from the state highway department, the county commissioners will now be able to go through with a road program that has been under serious consideration ever since the present board has been in office, and at the same time will insure completion of road projects that were launched by the old board.

In his conference with the commissioners, State Highway Director L. A. Boulay declared that the road map presented by the commissioners, as worked up by Clerk L. H. Johnson proved to him the necessity of immediate attention to road work in this county so far as the state was concerned.

"I have never had anything laid on my desk that is so clear as this map," Mr. Zoulay commented. "The great trouble with a lot of commissioners is, that when they come here for a conference they do not know what they want, but in your case, you always have your briefs properly prepared, and this is much to your credit."

In appropriating $20,000 for use on I. C. H. No. 502, which is the East Liverpool-Youngstown road north of the Cox highway to the Columbiana-Yellow Creek township, the county will also put $20,000 into this project.

While the state has put $56,250 in the Wellsville-Salineville project in ellow Creek township, the county will put $60,000 into this job, which insures the completion of the surfacing of this road east from Highlandtown to the end of the brick road north of Wellsville. It is very likely that the state will award this contract either in the June or July letting. It will also be insisted upon by the state that this surfacing be completed this year, and this will insure an improved road betwen East Liverpool and Salineville before winter.

"We're tired of the East Liverpool-Wellsville road being closed every year," Mr. Boulay is quoted as remarking to the commissioners, and he then set aside $22,500 for the resurfacing and widening of this road from Silver switch east to the west end of the Tatgenhorst job which was furnished last fall. This work will be done while the road is being improved at the East Liverpool end, and also at the Wellsville end—all work being done at the time the road is closed for these improvements.

The state has also set aside $25,000 for the Unity-Petersburg road, and this project will go through this season, providing the county can secure sufficient funds to match the appropriation of the state. It is proposed to place a macadam surface on this project.

Inasmuch as the state has put only $1,000 into the grading of the Hanover-Salem road in Hanover township, the Hanover trustees now have $44,000 to put into the project. The action of the state on this project insures the surfacing of this road next year between Hanover and Winona in Butler township. The grading on this road in Butler township was finished several years ago.

The state and the county will go 50-50 in widening the one way bridge on the Lincoln highway over the old canal at Kensington. The state has put $1,125 into this job. This bridge will be rebuilt within the next few months.

The Wellsville-Salineville road in Yellow Creek township will have a concrete top, while paving block will be used on the Wellsville-East Liverpool road. This will match the type of construction at either end of the road. Concrete will also be used on that part of 502 that is to be built north of the Cox highway.

THEATRE

Three Days Starting Monday

Gerald Beaumont's Racing Story Made Into Picture

"The Dixie Handicap," Reginald Barker's new production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer which is coming to the American theatre Monday, is a screen version of a story called "Dixie" by Gerald Beaumont that appeared in the Red Book Magazine.

It tells how the lost glory of an aristocratic Southern family was brought back by a horse and the young man who trained her. Full of the most thrilling incidents imaginable, and also possessing an unusually beautiful love angle, the story makes perfect screen material. Waldemar Young, who wrote the continuity for "The Great Divide," was the adapter of "The "Dixie Handicap."

The cast includes such notable players as Frank Keenan as Judge Roberts; Claire Windsor as his daughter, Virginia; Lloyd Huges as "The Dancin' Kid," who, in spite of his slangy title, is the hero; John Sainpolis in the villain role; Otis Harlan as a faithful darky; Joseph Morison, Otto Hoffman, Edward Martindel, Ruth King, and others.

Five Divorce Decrees Granted Here Friday By Judge J. G. Moore

Five divorces were granted by Judge James G. Moore following brief hearings in common pleas court, and one of the cases after settlement in the higher court was certified to the Juvenile court.

This cause was that of Daniel Weddle against his wife Ida Weddle. The plaintiff in this action was given a decree, and he was then ordered to pay $7.50 per week to the Fairmount Children's home for the keep of the children he has there. After this order was given by the court, the cause then ordered certified to the juvenile court for such action as the future may require.

Anna E. Williams has been granted a decree from her husband Anthony Williams on the grounds of extreme cruelty. She was then restored to her maiden name, that of Anna E. Cox.

When the original petition to padlock the property was filed it was said that Fratilla occupied the two store rooms, but since then he has leased one side of the building to others.

WEIRTON GIRL IS ABDUCTED

Search Being Made for Alleged Kidnaper by Police.

Search continues for Louis Kaniokos, 32, proprietor of a Weirton cofee house, who, it is alleged, kidnapped and carried away with him Mary Nacrinos, 16-year-old Weirton high school student.

Details of Daniokos' alleged act were revealed to police by John Smolas, 22, who confessed that he drove the couple as far as Paris, Pa., in his automobile. Smolas is held in jail at Weirton and maintains that Daniokos forced him to carry the couple in his automobile, holding a revolver at his head. At the little village of Paris Daniokos he said had started with her in the direction of Pittsburgh, according to Smolas.

Doniokos is alleged to have seized the Nacrinos girl while she was walking past his coffee house in the middle of Weirton, enroute home from school. According to information given to Prosecutor Thomas S. Hoffman the girl tried to evade her abductor and there was a scuffle in which Doniokos picked up the girl and threw her into the waiting machine.

Weirton police, Hancock county deputy sheriffs and friends of the abducted girl started in pursuit and found Smolas who gave information which continued the search on toward Pittsburgh. At Paris it was learned that the girl was fighting frantically and had her abductor's face bleeding from her scratchings and was pounding him in the face as he carried her from one automobile to another. A revolver was found by Paris citizens at the scene where the transfer took place.

The driver of the first car returned to Weirton and said he was enroute to inform the girl's father of the kidnaping when he was arrested. News of the kidnaping was sent to Pittsburg and other towns and an extensive search for the abductor and his pretty young victim is in progress. It is said that the high school girl passed Daniokos' coffee rooms several times each day while going to and from high school, and other girls told the authorities tonight that Daniokos had tried to stop the Nacrinos girl several times while passing and that she had told her companions that she had feared the man.

NOTE SAYS GIRL IS HELD CAPTIVE

A clue that may lead to the discovery of a kidnaping case was found in the form of a note inclosed in a corked bottle in the Ohio river near Powhatan, Ohio, yesterday. The floating bottle was found by a miner, who happened to be walking along the river bank, enroute home from his work.

The note was written in a distinct woman's hand and signed by Thelma West. It explained that she was being held captive in the West Virginia hills directly opposite Toronto, O. The note further explained that unless aid reached her within ten days, there would be no use of searching. A faint date line was distinguishable as April 9, 1925.

Sheriff Alfred Tope of New Cumberland and Toronto authorities were immediately notified, but they have failed to find any clue of the story or establish the girl's identity.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

"I was in a very bad state of health which was caused by feminine trouble My nerves were bad, I was weak, had no strength left, my back hurt and I had side aches," said Mrs. Melvina Bower of 1316 E. Fourth St., Dayton, Ohio. "It was an effort for me to get around at all, but Dr. Pierce's favorite Prescription relieved me of all weakness, strengthened my nerves and restored me to perfect health. Upon another occasion I had pneumonia which left me very weak. I could not get back my natural strength. It also left me with a severe cough which it semed impossible for me to get rid of, but after taking a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery my cough disappeared and I got well and strong. It just seemed to give me a new lease on life."

Thousands Face Starvation As South Wales Mines Close

Distress is Acute in Cottages as Result of Stagnation in Coal Industry.

EBBW VALLEY, Wales—Distress is acute in the cottages of South Wales miners.

Week after week finds more and more coal pits closing down, and more men out of work—with their only hope the unemployment dole. Some of those men who are working find htey are making less in wages than they would if they were receiving the unemployment dole.

The great slump that has hit the Welsh coal industry is rapidly bringing this section face to face with a crisis.

Poverty Acute.

Many families are almost on the verge of starvation and children are sadly undernourished. In thousands of homes orange boxes and apple barrels are taking the place of tables and chairs, and mattresses on the floors substitute for beds.

This coal area has long suffered from lack of proper housing facilities, and its drab dreariness and stark ugliness is now emphasized by the depression under which all of the people are suffering.

Welsh miners have always been noted for their thrift and carefulness, but many of them have for years been sacrificing to the limit in order to give their children educations which may lift them beyond the dull life of the coal fields. Now that hard times have come upon them they find their thrift invested in education.

Face Crisis.

A huge transference of population will probably be the final outcome of the situation which has arisen in the bituminous fields, where the falling off of the export trade has meant the closing of colliery after colliery.

Competition from foreign coal fields has brought the Welsh bituminous fields to the edge of the abyss, and unless some starting change come it will bring thousands of Welsh miners face to face with the great problem of how they can continue to exist.

Why Endure That Bad Back?

IS a constant backache keeping you upset? Feel all tired out—so nervous and dispirited you can hardly keep going?

Then look to your kidneys! Your kidneys rid the body of poisonous waste. But if they lag, impurities accumulate and cause slow poisoning of the whole system. Then one is apt to suffer backache, stabbing pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up at night and other annoying kidney irregularities.

Don't risk neglect. If your kidneys are sluggish, help them with a diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. They are praised the world over. Ask your neighbor!

Here is East Liverpool Proof:

John Grimm, fireman in pottery works, 1015 Ambrose Ave., says: "I caught a cold which settled on my kidneys and the sharp pains across my back were torture. I had such dizzy spells I couldn't see. My kidneys acted irregularly, and the secretions burned in passage. Doan's Pills, from Holloway's Drug Store, cured me of the attack."

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c

Why Endure That Bad Back?

IS a constant backache keeping you upset? Feel all tired out—so nervous and dispirited you can hardly keep going?

Then look to your kidneys! Your kidneys rid the body of poisonous waste. But if they lag, impurities accumulate and cause slow poisoning of the whole system. Then one is apt to suffer backache, stabbing pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up at night and other annoying kidney irregularities.

Don't risk neglect. If your kidneys are sluggish, help them with a diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. They are praised the world over. Ask your neighbor!

Here is East Liverpool Proof:

John Grimm, fireman in pottery works, 1015 Ambrose Ave., says: "I caught a cold which settled on my kidneys and the sharp pains across my back were torture. I had such dizzy spells I couldn't see. My kidneys acted irregularly, and the secretions burned in passage. Doan's Pills, from Holloway's Drug Store, cured me of the attack."

Los Angeles Plans To Construct World's First Moving Tunnel

LOS ANGELES—This city is to have the world's first tunnel for pedestrians, which is equipped with moving seats and stationary sidewalks.

Surveys have been started for early construction, which, by the terms of a franchise just granted by the city council, will be built under the floor of the Second street tunnel.

The tunnel will be 1,500 feet long and 15 feet in width.

The moving platform will have turntables at each end, upon which chairs will be placed, where one may sit and ride, from one end to the other, for five cents a round trip. On either side there are to be one-way stationary sidewalks, which will be free for public use. The tunnel will cost $200,000.

Fears Eliminated.

DILLONVALE, May — Name of Robert Shores, Dillonvale, son of Walter Shores, Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad crossing watchman here, was given a piece of an envelope found in the pocket of clothing on a corpse at St. Louis. Inquiry led Shores to believe that his son, working at Marion, met a tragic death. This fear, however, was eliminated when a letter, mailed at Marion after the finding of the body at St. Louis, was received by the family.

WORLD'S JUDGMENT DAY NEAR

millions now living will never die

Varied methods of bringing happiness to man have been tried and all have failed; but experimenting with so important a matter as man's happiness is not to continue forever.

For a long time this has been permitted; but now systems, organizations, nations, and creeds are called for a reckoning.

The reckoning is in progress among nations and creeds, and will in due time be extended to individuals.

Shortly, man will find a new arrangement of earth's affairs in operation, acquainting him by experience with those laws of right-doing that reward him with eternal life on earth.

The present marks that time of earth's history when events conspire to end the old order and inaugurate the new.

Los Angeles Plans To Construct World's First Moving Tunnel

LOS ANGELES—This city is to have the world's first tunnel for pedestrians, which is equipped with moving seats and stationary sidewalks.

Surveys have been started for early construction, which, by the terms of a franchise just granted by the city council, will be built under the floor of the Second street tunnel.

The tunnel will be 1,500 feet long and 15 feet in width.

The moving platform will have turntables at each end, upon which chairs will be placed, where one may sit and ride, from one end to the other, for five cents a round trip. On either side there are to be one-way stationary sidewalks, which will be free for public use. The tunnel will cost $200,000.

Fears Eliminated.

DILLONVALE, May — Name of Robert Shores, Dillonvale, son of Walter Shores, Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad crossing watchman here, was given a piece of an envelope found in the pocket of clothing on a corpse at St. Louis. Inquiry led Shores to believe that his son, working at Marion, met a tragic death. This fear, however, was eliminated when a letter, mailed at Marion after the finding of the body at St. Louis, was received by the family.

WORLD'S JUDGMENT DAY NEAR
millions now living will never die
Varied methods of bringing happiness to man have been tried and all have failed; but experimenting with so important a matter as man's happiness is not to continue forever.
For a long time this has been permitted; but now systems, organizations, nations, and creeds are called for a reckoning.
The reckoning is in progress among nations and creeds, and will in due time be extended to individuals.
Shortly, man will find a new arrangement of earth's affairs in operation, acquainting him by experience with those laws of right-doing that reward him with eternal life on earth.
The present marks that time of earth's history when events conspire to end the old order and inaugurate the new.

K. T. K. Tossers Trim Nash Motors In League Contest Here

Potters Get Off to Lead of Four Runs In Opening Inning

Timely Hints by Finley and Sutherin Aid Victors; Manning, Visiting Relief Hurler, Allows But Three Hits.

Before a fair sized crowd, K. T. K. defeated the Nash Motors, of Wellsville, in the Columbian park opening tilt of the Industrial league last evening. The score was 5 to 3.

Calhoun's wildness in the first inning, plus the timely hitting of Finley and Southerin enabled the Potters to annex the contest.

Finley shone resplendently in the field, and with Shaw, led the defense.

Allison was steady all the way and allowed but seven hits. D. Manning, who succeeded Calhoun on the hill-top for the Motors, was in rare form and held his opponents to three hits during practically the entire game.

Braves Trim Chicago In Jubilee Contest

BOSTON, May 9. — The Boston Braves defeated Chicago, 5 to 2, here yesterday, in the golden jubilee game of the National league, celebrating fifty years of baseball history. Prominent citizens—state, city, military and naval officials, high baseball dignitaries and 50 gray-haired "old timers," some of whom played in the first game of organized baseball half a century ago, saw the contest.

The Braves got to Alexander early and hit him hard for six innings. Genewich pitched well for the Boston club and held the Cubs in check while his teammates ran up a winning score.

Nats Lose to Sox in First Game in West

CHICAGO, May 9.—The White Sox defeated the Nats, 4 to 3, here yesterday in the first game Washington has played in the west since winning the world's title last fall.

Both the starting pichers were forced to retire and Lyons and Mogridge, who succeeded to the hill, engaged in a pitching duel with Lyons having the shade.

Lyons' single, followed by Ruel's muff of Leibold's throw to the plate, enabled the Sox to score their winning run in the eighth inning.

The fielding of Collins, Sheeley and Davis featured the game.

Macks Lead Circuit After Beating Tribe

CLEVELAND, May 9. — Philadelphia won sole possession of first place in the American league race here yesterday by defeating Cleveland, 5 to 3, in a pitching battle which marked Sam Gray's fifth straight victory and George Uhle's first defeat.

Gordon Cochrane, rookie catcher, drove in three runs for the Athletics with a double and a single.

Speaker went hitless after batting safely in 15 consecutive games.

Tagging The Bases

Sam Gray's fifth straight victory was George Uhle's first defeat and the Athletics won from the Indians, 5 to 3, taking uncontested possession of first place. Cochrane accounted for three of the five runs with a double and single while Speaker went hitless for the first time in 15 games.

The moot question of Shocker versus Bush was decided for the moment when the Yanks drove their ex-playmate to cover and shocker shut the Browns absolutely out, 12 to 0. They made only five hits but Sistel got one of them and carried his consecutive hitting streak to 23 games.

Flashing another ninth inning uprising, the Giants came from the surreptitious rear and beat the Cardinals, 5 to 2, Southworth wafting a homer off Dickerman with the bases filled.

After Fournier had staked the Reds to a tie by dropping Zitmann's foul in the ninth, the Dodgers stepped out in the home half and socked Rixey for three successive singles and won, 3 to 2.

Alexander had nothing but good intentions and the Braves slugged their way to a 5 to 2 decision over the Cubs in the golden jubilee game that celebrated the 50-years of the National league's existence.

Lyons not only pitched with distinction but his single and Rue's fumble of the throw to the plate staked the White Sox to a 4 to 2 victory over the Senators in the eighth.

Pirate pitchers were piled up in great disorder at the Phils blew themselves to a batting rampage and won, 15 to 7, Harper, Sand and Smith hitting homers.

The Red Sox put an abrupt end to an old fashioned go-as-you-please by scoring seven runs in the eighth and beating the Tigers 15 to 7.

Southworth is Hero In Giants' Victory

NEW YORK, May 9.—Billy Southworth, outfielder of the New York Giants, was the hero in one of baseball's great situations yesterday—ninth inning, three men on, two out and two runs needed to win. He drove a home run into the right field stands, giving his team a 5 to 2 victory over St. Louis.

Previously Southworth had hit a triple which scored the only Giant run obtained in eight innings off excellent pitching by Leo Dickerman.

JINX TRAILING REDS' MANAGER

Injuries to Team Make Hendricks Unlucky Leader.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Jack Hendricks probably makes no brash claims to being the greatest baseball manager in the world, but he will admit without a qualm to being the unluckiest. He has, in fact, just about killed off competition along this line during the last two seasons.

Jack fell heir to the Cincinnati Reds upon the death of Pat Moran a trifle more than a year ago, which was tough enough. The Reds were not and are not an easy club to manage at any time. A new manager, replacing an old favorite, might very well find himself occupying a bed of roses from which someone obligingly forgot to remove the thorns.

Daubert Dies.

All went as well as could be expected, however, until well on into the season. Then things began to happen, and the Reds were speedily deprived of any pennant hopes they may have entertained. Jake Daubert, star first baseman, was taken ill and died shortly thereafter. Ed Roush, the league's leading outfielder, pulled up lame. Club house lawyers began airing their views before, during and after ball games.

Hendricks established the identity of the Reds' boss for the time being at least by removing the disturbers during the recent off season.

The club went south of Orlando, played good ball and started the season with excellent prospects of finishing in the first divsion. Then the Hendricks jinx again reared its proud old head above this vista of optimism and great bounty.

Other Injuries.

Carl Mays, winner of 20 games in 1924, developed a bad arm and has been about as useful as a spareribs. Roush again developed charley horses in both legs and retired from the line-up, taking with him about 20 per cent of the team's punch. Hughey Critz was forced out by injuries, giving way to Charley Dressen, whose bad arm was not expected to respond to treatment and probably has not. Hargraves and Bressler remained in the game or the most part, but their efficiency decreased not a little because of the fact that they suffered from injured hands.

In spite of these depressing details, the Reds stepped out and won nine of their first 14 games, furnishing the Giants their only opposition during the early weeks of the race.

Proving what? That Hendricks isn't the worst manager in the world, either.

SARMIENTO AND TREMAINE DRAW

CLEVELAND, May 9.—Carl Tremaine, of Cleveland, and Pete Sarmiento, of Manila, were accorded equal honors by Referee Matt Hinkle, after twelve rounds of hard fighting in their bout here last night. Hinkle today said he would have awarded the bout to the Cleveland boy, except for foul tactics throughout the fight. The decision, however, was a popular one, and the crowd cheered both battlers impartially.

In the semi-final, Amos (Kid) Carlan, of New Orleans, and Tommy Hughes, Detroit, were given a draw. Hughes forced the fighting, however, and in the first round had Carlan against the ropes. Afterwards Carlin came back to win a draw.

Stock's Last Inning Single Beats Robins

BROOKLYN, May 9.—Stock's single in the ninth inning yesterday scored Brown with the run that gave Brooklyn a 3 to 2 victory over Cincinnati, appearing in the east for the first time this season. An error by Fournier in the ninth had permitted the Reds to tie the game.

Pirates are Buried By Phillies, 15 to 7

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Philadelphia buried the Pittsburgh Pirates under a 15 to 7 score yesterday.

Lee Meadows was hammered from the mound before he could retire the side in the first inning.

Wildness of Tiger Hurler Aids Boston

Twelve Boston players went to the plate in the eighth, scoring seven runs.

East Shows Strength In Western Clashes

Invading Clubs Yesterday Won Seven Out of First Eight Games Played Against Contenders in West.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 9. — Out in the great west, where the spaces are open and men are sometimes ball players, they haven't had a world's series contender since the Cleveland Indians won in 1920, and if the first of the intersectional clashes mean anything, they still may be minus the desired candidate at the end of the 1925 campaign. Only in the intersectional meetings can strength and weakness be established and their inaugural yesterday saw the east win seven of the eight games played.

This result might be reversed today, tomorrow or some day next week, but it is nevertheless not without its significance.

The Yankees, for example, couldn't beat any club in the east but their first day beyond the Alleghenies saw them run up a 12 to 0 score on the St. Louis Browns who had been doing pretty well against their western opposition. The Red Sox also won by a top-heavy score from the Tigers and it is a matter of previous record that the Sox beat their eastern rivals only five times since the start of the season.

If these opening skirmishes furnish a true line on the strength of the two sections, they would appear to account for the rather surprising showing of the Indians who were expected to finish in the second division but who have hovered in or about the lead since opening day. The Indians won 12 out of 17 games from the Tigers, Browns and White Sox but lost yesterday to the Athletics, who thereupon went to the pace in the league race.

The White Sox were the only western winners yesterday, nipping the Senators right at the wire. They have played commendable ball from the outset and may yet prove the dark horse of the campaign.

As a matter of fact clubs selected as pre-race contenders, particularly western entries, have not improved between seasons in ratio with the obvious betterment of some teams in the east. The Pirates broke up their remarkable infield and yesterday finished far back of the Phillies, who no longer fly a doormat from their flagpole.

The Cubs were weakened by the loss of Maranville and Grigsby and, therefore, can not be said to be a better prospect than the 1924 outfit. The Reds are a probably first division entry but not a pennant winner, their several weaknesses being too obvious. Of course the Pirates do not belong where they are; neither do the Cardinals. But unless they soon begin to show something more than the right idea, it will be too late to show anything beyond a deficit.

The same applies to the Tigers and, of course, the Yankees, although the latter, in the opinion of the writer, are through, anyhow. The Tigers are another club that didn't improve between seasons. The Senators and Athletics, eastern teams they must beat, most obviously did improve.

NO HIT-NO RUN GAME FOR HOY

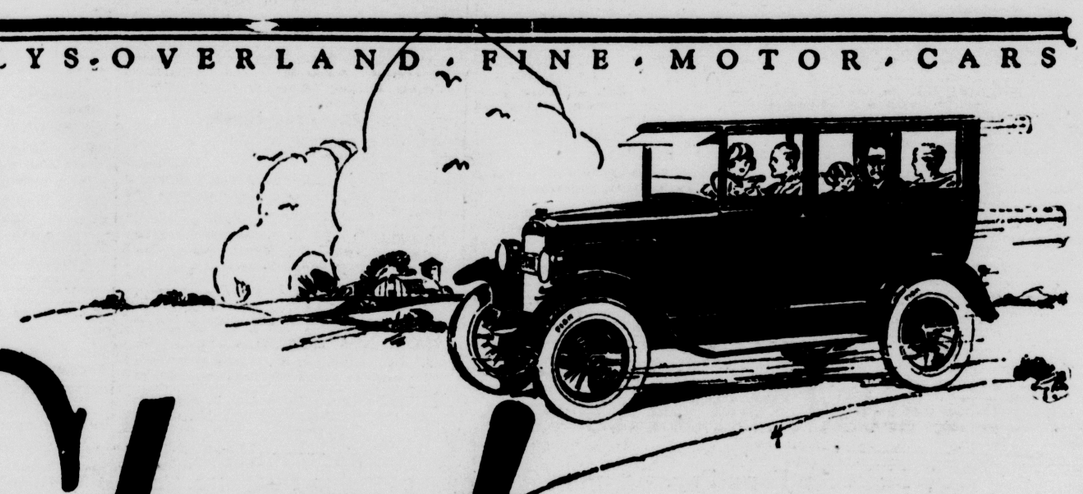

Chester Hurler is Victor Over Babcock-Wilcox.

In a contest that almost went by unnoticed, so suddenly was it called and played, the most striking achievement recorded this season in local baseball circles was executed when Pitcher Hoy, of Frank Riley's Chester Industrial league club, pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Babcock-Wilcox entry Thursday evening at Klondyke.

The Chesterites copped the contest by the count of 13 to 0. The defense of Riley's nine was well nigh airtight, only two miscues being charged against it. And the Chester tossers emphasized their defensive work with an attack that produced 17 hits off Pitcher Duncan.

Hoy's work was the best bit of pitching recorded here for a long time. Besides letting the opposition down with hits, he fanned 15 batters,

Potters Get Off to Lead of Four Runs In Opening Inning

Timely Hints by Finley and Sutherin Aid Victors; Manning, Visiting Relief Hurler, Allows But Three Hits.

Before a fair sized crowd, K. T. K. defeated the Nash Motors, of Wellsville, in the Columbian park opening tilt of the Industrial league last evening. The score was 5 to 3.

Calhoun's wildness in the first inning, plus the timely hitting of Finley and Southerin enabled the Potters to annex the contest.

Finley shone resplendently in the field, and with Shaw, led the defense.

Allison was steady all the way and allowed but seven hits. D. Manning, who succeeded Calhoun on the hilltop for the Motors, was in rare form and held his opponents to three hits during practically the entire game.

Tagging The Bases

Sam Gray's fifth straight victory was George Uhle's first defeat and the Athletics won from the Indians, 5 to 3, taking uncontested possession of first place. Cochrane accounted for three of the five runs with a double and single while Speaker went hitless for the first time in 15 games.

The moot question of Shocker versus Bush was decided for the moment when the Yanks drove their ex-playmate to cover and shocker shut the Browns absolutely out, 12 to 0. They made only five hits but Sistel got one of them and carried his consecutive hitting streak to 23 games.

Flashing another ninth inning uprising, the Giants came from the surreptitious rear and beat the Cardinals, 5 to 2, Southworth wafting a homer off Dickerman with the bases filled.

After Fournier had staked the Reds to a tie by dropping Zitmann's foul in the ninth, the Dodgers stepped out in the home half and socked Rixey for three successive singles and won, 3 to 2.

Alexander had nothing but good intentions and the Braves slugged their way to a 5 to 2 decision over the Cubs in the golden jubilee game that celebrated the 50 years of the National league's existence.

Lyons not only pitched with distinction but his single and Rue's fumble of the throw to the plate staked the White Sox to a 4 to 2 victory over the Senators in the eighth.

Pirate pitchers were piled up in great disorder at the Phils blew themselves to a batting rampage and won, 15 to 7, Harper, Sand and Smith hitting homers.

The Red Sox put an abrupt end to an old fashioned go-as-you-please by scoring seven runs in the eighth and beating the Tigers 15 to 7.

Southworth is Hero In Giants' Victory

NEW YORK, May 9.—Billy Southworth, outfielder of the New York Giants, was the hero in one of baseball's great situations yesterday—ninth inning, three men on, two out and two runs needed to win. He drove a home run into the right field stands, giving his team a 5 to 2 victory over St. Louis.

Previously Southworth had hit a triple which scored the only Giant run obtained in eight innings off excellent pitching by Leo Dickerman.

Braves Trim Chicago In Jubilee Contest

BOSTON, May 9. — The Boston Braves defeated Chicago, 5 to 2, here yesterday, in the golden jubilee game of the National league, celebrating fifty years of baseball history. Prominent citizens—state, city, military and naval officials, high baseball dignitaries and 50 gray-haired "old timers" some of whom played in the first game of organized baseball half a century ago, saw the contest.

The Braves got to Alexander early and hit him hard for six innings. Genewich pitched well for the Boston club and held the Cubs in check while his teammates ran up a winning score.

Nats Lose to Sox in First Game in West

CHICAGO, May 9.—The White Sox defeated the Nats, 4 to 3, here yesterday in the first game Washington has played in the west since winning the world's title last fall.

Both the starting pichers were forced to retire and Lyons and Mogridge, who succeeded to the hill, engaged in a pitching duel with Lyons having the shade.

Lyons' single, followed by Ruel's muff of Leibold's throw to the plate, enabled the Sox to score their winning run in the eighth inning.

The fielding of Collins, Sheeley and Davis featured the game.

Macks Lead Circuit After Beating Tribe

CLEVELAND, May 9.—Philadelphia won sole possession of first place in the American league race here yesterday by defeating Cleveland, 5 to 3, in a pitching battle which marked Sam Gray's fifth straight victory and George Uhle's first defeat.

Gordon Cochrane, rookie catcher, drove in three runs for the Athletics with a double and a single.

Speaker went hitless after batting safely in 15 consecutive games.

JINX TRAILING REDS' MANAGER

Injuries to Team Make Hendricks Unlucky Leader.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Jack Hendricks probably makes no brash claims to being the greatest baseball manager in the world, but he will admit without a qualm to being the unluckiest. He has, in fact, just about killed off competition along this line during the last two seasons.

Jack fell heir to the Cincinnati Reds upon the death of Pat Moran a trifle more than a year ago, which was tough enough. The Reds were not and are not an easy club to manage at any time. A new manager, replacing an old favorite, might very well find himself occupying a bed o' roses from which someone obligingly forgot to remove the thorns.

Daubert Dies.

All went as well as could be expected, however, until well on into the season. Then things began to happen, and the Reds were speedily deprived of any pennant hopes they may have entertained. Jake Daubert, star first baseman, was taken ill and died shortly thereafter. Ed Roush, the league's leading outfielder, pulled up lame. Club house lawyers began airing their views before, during and after ball games.

Hendricks established the identity of the Reds' boss for the time being at least by removing the disturbers during the recent off season.

The club went south of Orlando, played good ball and started the season with excellent prospects of finishing in the first divsion. Then the Hendricks jinx again reared its proud old head above this vista of optimism and great bounty.

Other Injuries.

Carl Mays, winner of 20 games in 1924, developed a bad arm and has been about as useful as a spareRib. Roush again developed charley horses in both legs and retired from the line-up, taking with him about 20 per cent of the team's punch. Hughey Critz was forced out by injuries, giving way to Charley Dressen, whose bad arm was not expected to respond to treatment and probably has not. Hargraves and Bressler remained in the game or the most part, but their efficiency decreased not a little because of the fact that they suffered from injured hands.

In spite of these depressing details, the Reds stepped out and won nine of their first 14 games, furnishing the Giants their only opposition during the early weeks of the race.

Proving what? That Hendricks isn't the worst manager in the world, either.

SARMIENTO AND TREMAINE DRAW

CLEVELAND, May 9.—Carl Tremaine, of Cleveland, and Pete Sarmiento, of Manila, were accorded equal honors by Referee Matt Hinkle, after twelve rounds of hard fighting in their bout here last night. Hinkle today said he would have awarded the bout to the Cleveland boy, except for foul tactics throughout the fight. The decision, however, was a popular one, and the crowd cheered both battlers impartially.

In the semi-final, Amos (Kid) Carlan, of New Orleans, and Tommy Hughes, Detroit, were given a draw. Hughes forced the fighting, however, and in the first round had Carlan against the ropes. Afterwards Carlin came back to win a draw.

Stock's Last Inning Single Beats Robins

BROOKLYN, May 9.—Stock's single in the ninth inning yesterday scored Brown with the run that gave Brooklyn a 3 to 2 victory over Cincinnati, appearing in the east for the first time this season. An error by Fournier in the ninth had permitted the Reds to tie the game.

Pirates are Buried By Phillies, 15 to 7

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Philadelphia buried the Pittsburgh Pirates under a 15 to 7 score yesterday.

Lee Meadows was hammered from the mound before he could retire the side in the first inning.

Wildness of Tiger Hurler Aids Boston

Twelve Boston players went to the plate in the eighth, scoring seven runs.

East Shows Strength In Western Clashes

Invading Clubs Yesterday Won Seven Out of First Eight Games Played Against Contenders in West.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 9. — Out in the great west, where the spaces are open and men are sometimes ball players, they haven't had a world's series contender since the Cleveland Indians won in 1920, and if the first of the intersectional clashes mean anything, they still may be minus the desired candidate at the end of the 1925 campaign. Only in the intersectional meetings can strength and weakness be established and their inaugural yesterday saw the east win seven of the eight games played.

pose the measure and they would go through the same procedure as the first. Both of these groups, however, have the facilities of the council at their service. The council does not try to control the policy of its members, but merely seeks to provide them with facilities for cooperative and effective action. If and when there develops clear cut difference of opinion between groups of member agencies the council's method provides for clear and definite statement of the points at issue. Unanimity of opinion is not always possible, but the clearing away of confusion may be, it is argued.

One of the things which the council has been trying to do is to correct the erroneous impression that the Board of Children's Guardians of the District of Columbia snatches children from their homes and places them in homes or "farms them out." It says that children are never taken from their homes except upon order of the juvenile court. And such order is not given unless upon investigation it is found that the home is an unfit place to raise the child. This is usually due to immorality or drunkenness on the part of one or both parents.

A child is never taken from his parents on account of poverty. If the parent is found to be a person to be entrusted with the upbringing of children, but is too poor properly to provide for them, there are agencies that are eager and willing to help them. This, of course, applies in the main to widows who are left with families and no means of support. In all cases every effort is make to keep the children with their mother if she is of good character.

Bananas shipped by Gutamela to this country last year were valued at $1,000,000 more than those ofg 1923.

pose the measure and they would go through the same procedure as the first. Both of these groups, however, have the facilities of the council at their service. The council does not try to control the policy of its members, but merely seeks to provide them with facilities for cooperative and effective action. If and when there develops clear cut difference of opinion between groups of member agencies the council's method provides for clear and definite statement of the points at issue. Unanimity of opinion is not always possible, but the clearing away of confusion may be, it is argued.

One of the things which the council has been trying to do is to correct the erroneous impression that the Board of Children's Guardians of the District of Columbia snatches children from their homes and places them in homes or "farms them out." It says that children are never taken from their homes except upon order of the juvenile court. And such order is not given unless upon investigation it is found that the home is an unfit place to raise the child. This is usually due to immorality or drunkenness on the part of one or both parents.

A child is never taken from his parents on account of poverty. If the parent is found to be a person to be entrusted with the upbringing of children, but is too poor properly to provide for them, there are agencies that are eager and willing to help them. This, of course, applies in the main to widows who are left with families and no means of support. In all cases every effort is make to keep the children with their mother if she is of good character.

Bananas shipped by Gutamela to this country last year were valued at $1,000,000 more than those ofg 1923.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

We're Meek, Says Inge.
Is Ford a Trust?
Air Prospectors.
A Big Needle's Eye.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Dean Inge tells what he thinks of America after three weeks' stay. He is amazed at our meekness, submitting to anything that bears the stamp of official authority. Long before the dean, Lord Northcliffe remarked, "the Americans are a very docile people."

This is the happiest of countries, according to the dean, and it is in no danger of revolution. He is right. A people that owns 15 or 20 millions of automobiles is not driving in revolution's direction.

The state of Mississippi sues the Henry Ford Co., Ford dealers and banks, declaring the Ford enterprise a trust, accusing it of price fixing, etc.

What would happen to the officials bringing the suit, if Henry Ford should say, "all right, gentlemen. I am sorry to hurt your feelings. I shall not sell any more cars in Mississippi."

That suit against Ford will be applauded by "big business," that ordinarily would call an anti-trust suit as shameful as trying to hit an old lady in the eye.

But a suit against Ford is different. Big business doesn't like him. He actually finances himself and doesn't give any deserving group of financiers a chance to reorganize him or name his board of directors.

A party of prospectors looking for gold, soon to leave Vancouver, on a trip to the northern part of British Columbia, will not jog slowly along on donkeys. They are going by airplane.

Flying low the experienced prospectors will spy out the land, descending at favorable spots.

That's progress. Flying machines above the earth and submarines crawling along the bottom of the oceans will find many mines and oil wells.

John D. Rockefeller Jr., who distributes millions freely, has been elected a trustee of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, although not an Episcopalian.

Occasionally you find a needle with an eye through which a rich man can pass quite easily.

Mr. Rockefeller moves that men of all denominations be eligible as trustees. He thinks that would stimulate raising funds.

The motion should be changed to read: "Any man worth $50,000,000 and up shall be eligible."

At a convention of women in Washington, members of the National Association of Colored Women complain of race discrimination. They found themselves seated apart from white women at a concert, and 200 Negro singers on the program refused to appear.

Race discrimination unfortunately is as old as the difference in races, and it shows itself even within the race.

Certain classes of Chinese look down on other classes. Southern white aristocrats used to look down upon New England nutmeg vendors and probably continue to do so.

In the days of Spinoza, Portuguese and Spanish Jews would not associate with German Jews.

This writer has head German Jews speak disparingly of Russian, Polish and Rumanian Jews.

At one church for Negroes in Washington, some of the very black members protested because they had to take seats in the rear away from the light mulattoes sitting in front.

Prejudice is a part of human ignorance.

Beginning today street car lines of New York city will permit women to smoke on open cars with seats reserved for smokers.

There is nothing surprising about that. A public opinion that allows women to take off half their clothes in private life and 90 per cent on the stage will not be excited about women smoking on street cars.

You are told the new rule means equality, and perhaps it does. But, there are two kinds of equality — one raises you up to a higher level as when slaves were set free, or women permitted to vote. The other drags you down, making you the equal of something below you.

That's the sort of equality women achieve when the are allowed to smoke in public.

They might also be allowed to chew tobacco. Perhaps that will be the next step.

CHURCH ASKS PAYMENT FOR STORM HAVOC

Second Presbyterian Trustees Request Council to Act.

PARLEY SOUGHT

East End Fire Hose Problem up—Order Street Improvements.

A request that the city reimburse the Second Presbyterian church for the damages alleged to have been done to the church edifice, last June 28, when the building was flooded by waters from a nearby run during a rain storm, was made to city council last evening by the church trustees. A court action unless council acts, was hinted in the communication.

Shortly after the storm trustees asked council to act, alleging that negligence on the part of the city to keep the run open was responsible for the damage. Council decided that in view of the wide-spread damage done to property in the district it would be unfair to adjust the loss in one case and not meet other claims.

The entire basement of the church

BARBED WIRE VICTIM DIES

Peter Maher, 78, Salineville, Succumbs in Hospital.

Bronchial pneumonia, resulting from exposure, combined with injuries sustained when enmeshed in barbed wire, resulted in the death of Patrick Maher, 78, farmer of near Haiti, a suburb of Salineville, at the City hospital at 1:15 o'clock this morning.

Maher was stretching a barber wire fence near his home, three miles south of Salineville, Thursday, when his foot became entangled in the wire. A mule, which was being used to pull the wire, becoming frightened, started to run, Maher being badly enmeshed in the wire before the animal was stopped.

Unable to free himself, Maher lay exposed for several hours before he was found by one of his sons. He was badly cut and bruised, and upon the advice of physicians, he was removed to the hospital here Thursday evening. Dr. C. H. Bailey attended him.

The body was removed to the Sturgis funeral home and probably will be shipped to Salineville this afternoon. Maher leaves his wife and several sons and daughters.

Funeral services will be held in the Salineville Catholic church on Monday morning. Burial will be made there.

Final arrangements for the Poppy Day campaign will be made at a meeting of the general Memorial Day committee which will be held in the G. A. R. hall Sunday afternoon. James Heckathorne is chairman of the committee arranging the observance.

LIVERPOOL MOTOR CAR CO. AGENCY SOLD TO HUDSON AND CLEVELAND MEN

A. G. Ellis and Michael Carmada Retire From Ford-Lincoln Sales Concern.

Sale of the Liverpool Motor Car company, West Fifth street, Ford and Lincoln automobile distributors, to J. M. Beers of Cleveland and R. T. Hanks of Hudson, was announced today. The new owners assumed control yesterday.

The business was owned and conducted by Arthur C. Ellis and Michael Camarda. The deal includes only the agency, business and stock and does not take in the building which has been leased to the new firm.

Beers was with the Ford factory at Detroit for several years and is a thoroughly experienced automobile man. Hanks has also had considerable experience in the sale of automobiles at Hudson.

The business here was established by Ellis and others about 10 years ago. The firm occupied a two-story frame building in West Fifth street for several years, but about three years ago erected a three-story fireproof brick garage and sales room opposite the old location.

Ellis and Camarda have not announced their plans for the future. They will be associated with the new owners until about June 1.

A supply of the smaller maps, showing the two routes to Pittsburgh, one via Beaver, Rochester and Sewickley, and the other the southside road through Chester, Frankfort Springs and Clinton, may also be obtained at the chamber headquarters.

Injunction Order Is Served Upon Mrs. Mendel Wasby

An injunction order has been served upon Mrs. Mendel Wasby of East Liverpool, restraining her from erecting a one-story business building on Fifth street, and leasing it.

CHINESE PEACE MEDIATOR HERE

Dr. Elliott I. Osgood.

DR. E. I. OSGOOD HERE SUNDAY

Missionary From China Will Preach in Church of Christ.

Dr. Elliott I. Osgood, former Ohio man, who has been engaged in missionary work in China for many years, will speak in the First Church of Christ at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dr. Osgood began his work in the Far East in the days when every American or European was hated and feared by the natives. Five years ago when Dr. A. L. Shelton, an American missionary, was captured by Chinese bandits and held for a ransom, Dr. Osgood was sent from East China to Yunnan, 2,500 miles southeastward, to aid in bringing about his liberation. The story of his adventure will be given in his address tomorrow.

During the Chinese civil war, Dr. Osgood was lowered over the great wall of China and negotiated peace with the rebels, thereby saving one of the largest cities in the land.

He is scheduled to speak at Steubenville Sunday night.

Due to Dr. Osgood's appearance here, Mothers' Day exercises in the First Church of Christ have been postponed until Sunday evening.

23 LIVES LOST WHEN U. S. RIVER STEAMER SINKS NEAR MEMPHIS

Prominent Engineers of South Among Victims.

40 ARE RESCUED

Disaster Occurs as Convention Party Returns From Island.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 9.—Twenty-three persons, 17 passengers and six Negro members of the crew of the government river steamer Norman, were drowned in the sinking of the vessel here late Friday, it was disclosed today after an all-night search for survivors, and a careful rechecking of the figures.

Among the passengers were some of the most prominent in engineering circles of the south, including Paul H. Norcross, former president of the Chamber of Commerce in Atlanta, and a widely known engineering authority.

The survivors of the ill-fated vessel number 40, according to the check.

Victim Trapped in Boat.

Police and engineers attending the convention of the Mid-South Association of Engineers announced today that no hope remained for the missing members of their party and predicted that their bodies would be found when divers reached the vessel on the river bottom.

Shortly after dawn this morning the professional divers started down into the river. Fifty-five feet beneath the surface lies the Norman. There, according to the belief of the police, lie the entrapped bodies of most of the victims of the river tragedy.

The belief prevailed that the divers will find the bodies of the drowned caught in the rigging of the vessel. The Negro members of the crew are presumed to have been caught below decks, with no chance of escape. The death list was not put at 23 until after an extensive, all-night search along the shore and at nearby farm houses for those who might have swam ashore and escaped.

Paul H. Norcross Dead.

Reports that Norcross and others were seen in the water swimming vigorously for the shore have not been borne out, the police declared, and indications were that he went down with the others on the boat. The disaster occurred near Coahoma, 17 miles below Memphis, on the Mississippi.

The engineering party was returning from Cow's Island where an afternoon session of the engineering society had been held and all were in gay mood as they steamed up the Mississippi in the late afternoon sunlight.

There was music on board and much laughter and good spirits. Then the boat began to sway. The crowd on board, numbering more than 60 persons, rushed to one side. The boat rolled back into place and over to its other side. The crowd rushed across the deck. This time it kept on turning. Over it went—on its side. Three times it turned in the water, eye witnesses said, and then shot

"APPRECIATE OUR MOTHERS" IS HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR GIRL'S APPEAL ON EVE OF MOTHERS' DAY

Apropos of Mothers' Day, which will be observed throughout the nation tomorrow, is the tribute to maternal devotion paid today by Miss Grace Ramsey, daughter of W. A. Ramsey, city postoffice employe.

Because of its merit as well as its significance today, the eve of the second Sunday of May which is set aside for tribute to a queen who is secure upon her throne, the oration, "Appreciating Our Mothers," delivered by Miss Ramsey, a member of the 1925 graduating class of the high school, is published by The Review-Tribune.

Miss Ramsey wrote and delivered the oration, for which she was awarded second honors in the English literature class oratorical contest by a vote of her classmates. All orators were members of the senior class taught by Miss Rubiena Ikirt. First place was voted E. K. Bennett, Jr., whose subject was "Electricity—The Greatest Force in the Universe."

By MISS GRACE RAMSEY.

Miss Ramsey's tribute to motherhood follows:

By Miss Grace Ramsey.

"A mother's heart holds many charms
And love is ever in her arms,
And in her eyes a faith divine,
While home is you—O Mother Mine!"

America's youth of today show lack of appreciation, a thing needed above all else. Especially noticeable is the lack of the appreciation of our parents. It is because of this fact that I have chosen the subject of "Appreciating Our Mothers."

A most important responsibility rests upon the shoulders of our mothers, for with them rests the task of training the children upon whom the foundation of our nation's future is built. These early efforts of our mothers' influence make in us a lasting impression, one which lasts all through life. We find that this influence is brought about chiefly by her faith, her hope, and her love. It is about these influential qualities and our duties of appreciation that I have built my subject matter.

To begin with, your mother's faith has been centered about you ever since you were a helpless infant. She has had a faith in you and your strength of character which cannot be fathomed. She has pictured you not as a cowering criminal, but as an honest citizen. You have not realized the extent of her faith in your ability to accomplish as much as others. Be it yours to fulfill her faith.

Influence of Mother's Faith.

Her faith in your perseverance is another quality. Mother does not expect you to follow the path of least resistance, but the path of most achievements. Mother's faith in your final victory is such that even your own dreams have not equaled. Nothing can daunt her faith unless it is your own careless attitude, your failure to follow her teachings. Lives of former great men picture for us the influence and fulfillment of a mother's faith. Today we reverence Lincoln as the saviour of our country. Whence originated that strength of character, that nobility of purpose which we all admire? His own answer was, "All that I am, all that I ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother." What we need is Lincoln's appreciation.

At this period of your life your mother's hopes are high. They are the dreams of her life. They are her hopes of you, your nobility, and your success.

Some of you have lost your mothers; no longer do you have her sympathizing love, but a mother in Heaven is all the more reason why you should follow her early hopes of you.

"Now the old home, vacant, has no
charms for you;
One dear form is absent, Mother, kind
and true;
Evermore she dwells where pleasure
never dies,
If you love your Mother, meet her in the skies.

"Listen to her pleading, 'Wandering
boy, come home!'

"Appreciate Mothers"

Lovingly entreating, do no longer roam;
Let your manhood waken, Heaven ward lift your eyes;
If you love your mother, meet her in the skies."

Appreciate Her Sacrifices.

"And now abideth faith, hope and love, these three; but the greatest of these is Love." Even so a mother's love is the greatest thing you will ever realize in life. Because of it she has sacrificed herself for you, your education, your pleasures and your necessities. Hers is a love that endures through all adversities. She shares your joys and pleasures; sympathizes with your sorrows.

Your earliest memories are ones of joyous days with your mother. She has spent the best years of her life giving love's sacrifice for you; now it is your turn to sacrifice and make her last years happy.

Mother appreciates each little loving word and deed on your part. Your thoughtfulness of her comfort increases that undying love which is a part of your mother. You can give her joy in working to the fulfillment of her hopes. To her we owe obedience, willingness, cheerfulness. In appreciation of her sacrifices, it is ours to practice self-denial and thorough application to all tasks. We must advance with dogged perseverance. Through respect to her faith, we must develop nobility of character and humility of heart. By ever keeping in mind the sacrifices of mother's faith, hope and love your appreciation will be manifest, and you will the more fully realize that she

Mothers you, helps you, guides you,
Backs your every plan,
In reasoning sees your point of view,
And then, she understands
Just how you feel, and
Shows a sympathy for you.
She is your mother, so she knows
How your glad days come
And go to come again.
Her faith, her hope, her love goes with
You on life's road to strengthen
Your whole character. For you
It is a duty to obey,

School Head

was county community and new knew nothing of his election until he received a letter in today's mail. His selection was unanimous over 26 applicants. He will succeed Charles C. McVay.

Mr. Geiger became head of the East Liverpool schools in 1917 succeeding F. H. Warren, who was elected superintendent of schools as Fostoria. He came to East Liverpool from Dover, neighboring town to New Philadelphia, where he had been located for 20 years, five years as high school principal and 15 years as superintendent. He taught at Carrollton and Lancaster before going to Dover.

He holds elementary and high school state life certificates, having been awarded both by examination in 1899 and 1901. He also has A. M. and Doctor of Pedagogy degrees. For five years he was a member of the state board of school examiners and is a former president of the Ohio State Teachers' association. He has been honored with practically every office in the district and state teachers' organizations. He was one of two city superintendents appointed by Governor Donahey last December to make a study of the school revenue situation.

Board of Education to Act.

Steps looking toward the selection of Superintendent Geiger's successor probably will be taken at the next meeting of the board of education.

Electors of New Philadelphia recently approved a $350,000 bond issue for a new junior high school. Construction of the new school is to be started immediately.

In announcing his appointment to the New Philadelphia post, Prof. Geiger made the following statement today:

"I am almost forced to be a fatilist. It seems that whatever is, is to be. Things just naturally have happened to me all my life. Most of my school positions have just come to me. When I was still a boy on my father's farm, my school career was started when the sons of two school directors drove four miles to tell me that their dads wanted me to take their school for the following winter. My first school position after graduation from college came as the result of a friendly telegram from a board member while I was 100 miles away engaged in another line of work.

Returns to Former Home.

"I must admit that I have applied for a number of superintendencies but I never landed one that I applied for, although I have come very close to some good ones. When I was high school principal at Dover, the board unanimously promoted me to the superintendency while I was out of the city and before I knew the position was vacant.

"Eight years ago I was called to the superintendency in this city without being an applicant. Now comes the call to go back to the community where after an absence of eight years they still seem to appreciate my former services. For the past few months I have been seriously considering several good business propositions, but it is very probable now that I will continue the school game a little while longer.

Expresses Appreciation.

"My contract here will expire next August 31, so I will be on the payroll in this city for four months more. The board of education under the school laws will now be free to receive candidates and to select my successor. I will have ample opportunity to express my appreciation before my contract closes, but there are a few things I wish to say right now.

"I want to thank the editor of the local paper for his courtesy in always giving generous space on the front page for articles published in the interest and welfare of the public schools.

"I also wish to state I have appreciated the splendid co-operation of the ministers in the city during recent years, for we all well know that it is important that the churches and the schools co-operate closely in these days.

"To all friends, patrons, board members, teachers and pupils, I express appreciation of co-operation shown, support given and courtesies extended during my eight years of service in this city."

down to its watery grave, 55 feet below.

Graphic Story of Disaster.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 9.—A graphic story of the sinking of the river steamer Norman, claiming the lives of 23 persons, was told today by W. W. Debard, Chicago, western editor of the engineerings News Record.

Debard and about 20 others were rescued out of the water by Tom Lee, colored, who was cruising nearby in his motor boat, when the Norman sank. Lee rushed survivors to the Tennesee shore.

Just before the disaster, the Norman took a heavy list to the right side, Debard declared. The passengers remained calm.

"The Captain", said Debard, "Immediately ordered the passengers to divide up in even numbers on either side of the boat as soon as some of the passengers hurried to the left side, the boat gave such a violent lurch back that the captain was thrown out of the pilot house and several of those on deck were hurled into the water.

"The Norman then listed to the left side, gradually going lower and lower until finally it went down, bottom side up. Only those who were on deck had a chance of escaping. I was hurled into the water and managed to make my way to Lee's boat.

"Everybody was calm and cool and there was hardly a sign of panic during the entire ordeal."

Church Asks Payment

was flooded, the floor and much of the furnishings being ruined. It was claimed that considerable damage was caused by the failure of the water to drain from the basement through a sewer which had been closed.

Council authorized the appointment of a committee consisting of Councilmen Hayes, Kerr and Chambers to confer with the church trustees in an effort to effect a satisfactory arrangement.

An ordinance, authorizing the safety director to purchase 1,500 feet of fire hose, three hose nozzles and a one and one-half ton motor chassis for the fire department, was placed on second reading by a vote of four to two. Councilmen Chambers, Rowe, Eardley and Hayes supported the measure, while Solons Farrall and Kerr opposed it.

Farrall said that council, after passing the ordinance on first reading, had decided to table the measure until the need for a motor chassis for the East End station could be determined. Chambers replied that inasmuch as council had arranged no conference with the fire chief, safety director and others, he had conducted an investigation himself and had found that a new truck was needed. Eardly supported Chambers' sentiments. Kerr stated that there appeared to be a difference of opinion on the matter and that he believed council should fully investigate before approving the legislation.

Rural Lane Job Gets O. K.

"I am in favor of buying another truck if it is really needed, but I believe that council should satisfy itself as to the requirements of the fire department before we spend the money," Kerr declared.

In an effort to suspend the rules and pass the ordinance on third reading, Solons Kerr and Farrall continued their opposition and the move was declared lost for lack of the necessary three-fourths majority.

Two resolutions, declaring it necessary to sewer a section of Springdale street and another to sewer part of Smithfield street, were passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. Ordinances determining it necessary to proceed with the improvement of Laura and Riley avenues, Rider and Cove alleys and Garfield street were also passed on three readings.

Councilman Eardley reported that he had investigated the Rural lane improvement job and was satisfied that the work had been done according to the specifications. The complaint concerning street assessments for improvement of McKinnon avenue was referred to the claims committee, solicitor and engineer.

The offer of residents holding property along Vinton alley, East End, to bear two-thirds of the cost of sewering the run, which it is claimed flows along the alley, was referred to the finance committee for action. Property holders of this district have been urging this improvement for several months.

Mayor Reports Collections.

Upon motion of Councilman Farrall, the clerk was instructed to notify D. F. Nellis, St. Clair avenue contractor, to clear the sidewalk on the east side of Ravine street near Bradshaw avenue. The sidewalk at this point, it is charged, is being used for the storage of lumber.

The request of a party to purchase that part of the city property at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Race street for a filling station was referred to the street committee. Council decided that the land should not be sold, but may be leased.

The mayor reported the collection of $1,521.20 during April.

A complaint of Fred Earl, that Perry avenue was being filled above the established grade, damaging his property facing Riverview street, was referred to the city engineer for immediate investigation.

At the request of Service Director A. G. Ellis, council decided to inspect the proposed West Eighth street improvement between the West End school and the city limits next Friday evening. Council will meet at the Liverpool Motor Car company office and be taken to the street in automobiles. The street car company and county commissioners have agreed to share in the cost of this improvement if it is undertaken this summer.

Street Committee Recommendations.

A request for a sewer extension along Holland street in the West End was also turned over to the street committee for investigation.

Councilman Kerr reporting for the street committee recommended that Peter Milliron be granted the use of First street from Union street to Cherry alley. He also reported that the curbs on McKinnon avenue had not been constructed in a workmanlike manner. Other recommendations of the committee included the filling of Booth alley, raising of the curbing at the south-west corner of Chester avenue and Bank street and the resurfacing of Trentvale street.

The committee also reported that a conference had been held with officials of the East Liverpool Sand and Gravel company and that steps had been taken to eliminate noise made by a dredge boat. G. R. Pattison was also instructed to build a retaining wall at the rear of his property in Green lane to prevent dirt from blocking the street. The city solicitor was instructed to notify the Pennsylvania Railroad company to keep their crossings in passable condition or that they will be "compelled to replace all crossings with concrete."

PITTSBURGH MAN PAYS $1,000 FINE

Max Cransfield, of Pittsburgh, who was arrested Tuesday night upon charges of transporting intoxicating liquor, was released by the police yesterday afternoon after he had made arrangements to settle a $1,000 fine imposed by Mayor Brown.

Cransfield is alleged to have been bringing what is said to have been bonded brandy into East Liverpool from Pittsburgh. He was arrested upon information said by the police to have been furnished by a relative.

MARBLE GROWS, IS SHOWN BY TESTS

Contraction Is Less Constant Than Expansion.

Washington.—Marble buildings of the United States are growing.

This remarkable fact has been disclosed by a survey of thermal expansion of stone conducted by the United States bureau of standards.

"Marble, especially, shows peculiarities in its behavior under temperature changes," the announcement said.

"It expands on heating, but when cooled to the original temperature it does not shrink to its original dimensions; that is, it retains a part of the expansion as a permanent growth.

"Specimens have been measured under low temperature and found to expand when cooled below normal, which, also, is contrary to the usual conception."

These queer characteristics of the action of stone, even under changes of heat caused by summer and winter, are held accountable for the peculiar instances of warping, which are sometimes noted in marble headstones in cemeteries.

The assumption has been, it was said, that stone expands at a uniform rate in all intermediate temperatures, these deductions being based on a limited number of observations. The present data was termed misleading.

Determinations at the bureau of standards, at which frequent length measurements were made on limestone and marble specimens as the temperatures were raised, indicated that these old assumptions are far from correct.

"For small increases in temperature above normal the expansion is very small, but the rate increases rapidly as the temperature rises," officials declared.

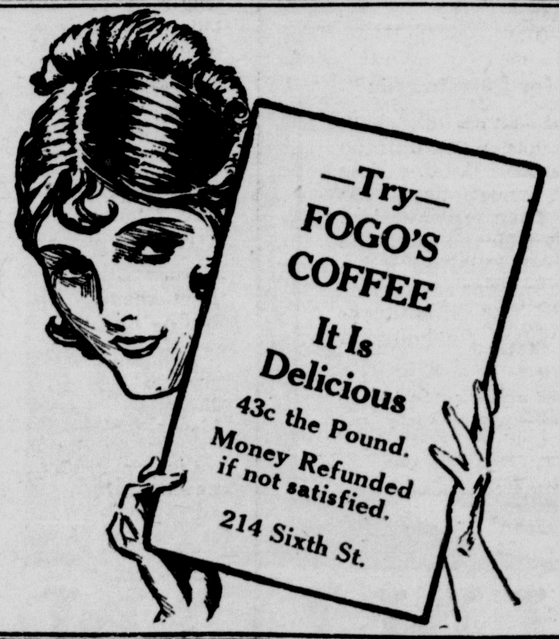

"At 100 degrees centigrade the average expansion of marble is about the same as that of steel, but at 200 degrees the rate is approximately doubled, while for temperatures a few degrees above normal expansion is only a fractional part of that of steel."

MILL WORKER INJURED HERE

Carl Kelly 28, Taken to Allegheny Hospital.

Carl Kelly, 28 years old, son of Charles Kelly, of Main street, and an employe of the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant, is in the Allegheny General hospital as a result of injuries sustained yesterday afternoon while at work at the mill.

Kelly's feet were badly bruised and burned when a load of hot iron dropped on them.

The young man was employed as a member of a crane crew. While engaged in unhooking a load of hot metal, it is said, the iron dropped suddenly and covered his feet before he was able to step out of the way.

The injuries were dressed temporarily by Dr. J. S. McCulloch and Kelly was removed to the Allegheny General hospital. He will probably be unable to use his feet before six weeks, physicians said today.

"MOTHER'S DAY" TO BE OBSERVED

Special services in honor of mother's day will be held in practically all the local churches tomorrow.

Pastors generally will refer to the occasion in appropriate sermons. In several of the churches special musical programs are being arranged.

Both music and sermon will honor "mother" as the First United Presbyterian church at services in the evening. The music will be provided by mothers from the congregation, in charge of Mrs. F. E. Vernia. There will be quartet and octet selections.

Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor, will deliver a sermon, the second in the series on "Spiritual Shipwrecks," in connection with the services. The topic will be, "The Man Who Told His Secret to a Woman." Flowers will be given to each mother at the services. And auto transportation will be provided for any mother who may desire it.

Sunday school exercises and morning worship at the First Methodist Protestant church will be devoted to mother's day services. There will be appropriate music. Rev. R. Ernest Game's sermon subject is, "Christ and Motherhood."

"Mother, Home and God" will be the topic of a sermon at the evening services by Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor of the First Christian church.

Sunday school and morning services will be combined at the First Evangelical church, in charge of Rev. C. W. Johnston, pastor. Rev. Johnston's sermon subject is, "The Person Who Did More for You Than Anyone on Earth."

Rev. Frank H. Magill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has selected the subject, "The Home Blessed of God" for his sermon at the morning services. A musical program will be given in connection with the services.

The Bible school at the Second Presbyterian church will consider the "Mother" theme. Rev. Thomas Berger's morning sermon subject will be "A Mother's Desire."

Hold Guest Night.

Guest night was observed when the Senior Vivace met Thursday evening at the home of the instructor, Miss Jean Fogo, in Riverside avenue.

A short program was given, consisting of a reading by Hesper West, a violine solo by Virginia Crowl, and a piano solo by Ruth Coleman. "Scarlotti and Music in France in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centruries" was the study of the evening.

Rereshments were served at the close of the program.

Has Long Jail Term.

Failure to send the transcript to county authorities promptly, caused Robert Neal of Wellsville, to spend 100 days in jail, it was brought out in probate court yesterday, when Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes announced that the paper from the court of Mayor Barnes, of Wellsville, had not been filed in common pleas court until May 5.

This, the court announced, was a most unusual procedure, and another charge was immediately made out in probate court against Neal charging him with non-support. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. But Judge Riddle, in view of the fact that Neal had already had a long stay behind the bars, suspended the new sentence.

Neal was released.

MOTHER
No matter how punctilious we are in meeting our obligations, there is one that can never be paid—our debt to Mother. And as Her Day approaches, let us do our best to show her our appreciation. If she be no longer with us, let it be a day of tender remembrance. If we still have her, let us remember her with flowers, or a visit, or a lasting gift of furniture. For Mother's Day comes but once a year—and on that day she deserves the attention of even the busiest sons and daughters!
Here you will find any number of suitable gifts for mother—gifts that will tend to lighten her load and give her more time for pleasure. Let us suggest an electric washer or ironer, electric hand iron or Hoover cleaner.

Help The Playground Movement

The annual appeal for the co-operation of the public in the support of the playground movement will be made on Saturday, May 23, Playground Day, by the recreation committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs.

Approximately $1,200 will be required to maintain the recreation center at Second and Washington streets during the summer, Mrs. John T. Bowers, Playground Day chairman, says. Last year about $1,150 was collected.

Club women, assisted by high school girls, will sell novelties in the campaign to raise playground funds. Any sum from five cents to $5 or more will be accepted.

Mothers and fathers and big brothers and sisters should support the movement, for supervised recreation not only means better health for Young America, but is also an important factor in curtailing the toll of traffic accidents, many of which are attributable to children playing in the streets.

The Biggest Highway Plan

"The world's greatest public work," says a highway engineer, "is the United States road system." It is not only the biggest highway system but the biggest program of public construction.

The federal aid highway act of 1921 may be said really to have inaugurated this gigantic undertaking because it provided for a connected and correlated system of highways throughout the country. Every state was asked to map out a proposed system of more or less direct cross-state routes. Then the federal bureau of public roads checked up on these and revised them where necessary just enough to create a comprehensive and connected whole, complete for the country regardless of state and county boundary lines. This system is expected to be finished in 12 years, and it will be then, exclusive of bridges, equivalent in amount of material moved to approximately two Panama canals.

This great highway system sends its big main thoroughfares east and west and north and south across the continent and links every section, directly or indirectly, with every other section. And over its many miles of good pavement, as fast as they are completed, go millions of the nation's citizens, on business and on pleasure, gaining in widened outlook and interest.

Musical Progress

Music-lovers used to worry about the musical soul of America, and some of them do yet. But there is no need to.

The music fans of Cleveland used to worry about the musical soul of that city particularly. It was so dull, dumb and dead to good music! It didn't even care for bad music. It was almost impossible to get out enough people to pay for a good concert. That was only a few years ago.

Well, Cleveland has just had a nine-days' run of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York. There were 10 performances, with the attendance averaging 8,000. Which is to say that 80,000 people—some of them repeaters, of course—paid an average of about $3 apiece to hear grand opera. It broke the attendance records of the famous opera company.

The big public hall, affording plenty of room for a crowd and a fine setting for dramatic spectacles, had something to do with the matter. But the big factor was the musical awakening of the city.

There is a musical awakening in nearly every live American city today, with progress rapid or slow, according to the zeal of the local music leaders.

The Aged Swimmer

"You can't teach an old dog new tricks," they said, when Mrs. Henrietta Maslen, aged 72, went to a swimming pool in a city big and wise enough to have such luxuries, and announced that she intended learning to swim.

Mrs. Maslen had never tried to swim in her life, but didn't see any reason why she couldn't. She was moved to emulation when her married daughter passed a life-saving test. "I guess I can do anything my children can," she said.

That was two years ago. She learned to swim across the pool in a few weeks. She mastered the breast stroke, the side stroke, back stroke, Australian crawl, back dive and various other maneuvers. She made better progress than many of the young girls. She is now an accomplished water-dog.

She not only enjoys the swimming, but says it has cured her of nervousness.

Here is encouragement for a lot of young folks who imagine they're too old to swim. Also a reminder of the novel and sensible rule recently adopted by Vassar college, that no girl hereafter shall be given a diploma unless she can swim.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 9.—Manhattan is filled with psychic professors who intensify the soul for so much "per intense." One journal that accepts their professional cards show there are some 150 imparting various mental vibrations to the soul weary.

Most of them are ensconced in ornate apartments along Riverside Drive. They are sleek and professorial looking with Van Dykes and horn rimmed glasses. They offer much high-blown abracadabra to impress seekers after new truths.

There is a pungent odor of incense, crystal balls shot with strange lights and shelves of ponderous books. The professors are usually in exotic robes and turbaned to give a mysterious atmosphere of Orientalism. They are silken voiced and suave.

Rich and neurotic women flock to them in limousines. They pay as high as $50 a visit for the curious mental infiltrations. There are lovely metaphors to be repeated parrot-like by the class and sometimes deep-breathing exercises and silences.

It is said the professors exchange names of their patients for their patrons usually go from one to the other in the chase for chimerical panacea. All sorts of pseudo-scientific devices are brought into play. The professors are above any legal entanglements.

They do not treat the body. They treat the soul. Many have been arrested but very few have been convicted. That they prosper amazingly is revealed in the wealth of one who had his "students" walk barefoot in the morning dew and bathe in the sun rays.

He owns a magnificent castle up along the Hudson and his terraced gardens cost some $100,000. He is reliably reported to have been a former livery stable keeper in the state of Washington. Two others have bought the apartment building in which they reside.

There stands in Central Park a heroic statue of a man so little known that not one in thousands can tell you anything about him. It is a statue of Simon Bolivar, the South American liberator. It was presented to the city in 1920 by the Venezuela government. Bolivar was the foremost champion of freedom in Latin America and died virtually ostracized by his countrymen.

I recently saw the price list of a Bowery cut-throat gangster. It was taken from his pocket by the police. Here are his prices: Punching, $2; Both eyes blacked, $4; Nose and jaw broke, $10; Jacked out, (knocked out with a black jack) $15; Ear chawed off $15; Leg or arm broke, $19; Shot in leg, $25; Stab, $25; Doing the Big Job, $100 and up. Prices have gone up in the past ten years. In the year of 1912 when the Zelig and Sirocco and Tricker gangs were warring with each other the price of murder was $10.

The gangsters used to have a term "Putting him on the boat!" It meant the victim of hired vengeance would be seen no more. It is said that in one year 16 men were "put on the boat." No trace of them has ever been found.

However, the death of the gambler Herman Rosenthal really ended the bloody gang wars that characterized New York's East Side of 20 years ago. The gangster is a coward. The electrocution of Police Lieutenant Becker threw a fear into them from which they have never recovered. They do not run in packs. They fear the "squealer" and when they go out to kill they go alone.

All of the old time gangsters died as they lived — by the gun. Julie Morrell, Big Jack Zelig, Monk Eastman, Red Harirngton, Kid Dropper, Louis the Lump, and Kid Twist were pistoled by rivals.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Coordinating Welfare Work.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—It has been realized by welfare workers all over the country that in order to promote the greatest efficiency, and to avoid duplication of effort, there should be some sort of central agency where representatives of the different organizations might confer. Accordingly in nearly every city in the United States having a population of 100,000 or more there is now a Council of Social Agencies.

The Washington Council of Social Agencies was organized about four years ago. Its membership consists of 36 private agencies and 20 public ones. The private agencies are composed of hospitals, church societies and welfare societies of non-sectarian character. The public agencies are represented by such organizations as health department of the District of Columbia, the juvenile court, the district jail, tuberculosis hospital, etc. These latter are supported by government appropriations.

No organization will be admitted to the council unless it has been approved by the endorsement committee. This committee is appointed by the commissioners of the District of Columbia from various civic organizations, such as the Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce and the Women's City club. Its purpose is to protect the public against fraudulent charities. It makes a personal investigation into the method of procedure of a society seeking membership, and also into its financial standing.

Prior to the organization of the council at Christmas time there was a particularly great amount of duplication in giving. It was often found that one family had perhaps three or four baskets, while next door would be an equally needy family which had received nothing.

This was frequently due to the fact that the first family would hear that several agencies were offering to furnish baskets to those who could not afford to make any Christmas preparations for their children. With great canniness this family would apply to each one of these agencies, and they without investigation would send along a basket. On the other hand, the family next door perhaps had more pride and less foresight, and therefore went without anything.

Giving More Systematized.

Since the organization of the council this Christmas giving has become more systematized. Last year the council invited the cooperation of all the various civic and social organizations, even though they were not members.

Fifteen of these outside organizations responded to this call for more effective Christmas giving. A special committee was formed which was composed in part of member agencies and in part of civic organizations. The office of the council became a central registration and every application was filed there. These were checked over, and where more than one agency had received an application from the same family, those agencies were notified and asked to get together and confer as to which would supply the basket. It was found that out of eleven hundred names filed by these cooperating agencies, there were 103 duplicates. Some of these had been duplicated as many as five times. By this checking system the agencies were able to reach 163 more families, which under the old haphazard method would doubtless have been neglected.

It is being advocated that instead of the baskets at Christmas something of more lasting benefit be given. Perhaps a tubercular child needs milk which his parents are not in a position to furnish. It is suggested that an amount equal to that which would be spent on a basket, be applied to a daily supply of milk. Or a scholarship might be given to some particularly apt child in order that he might be fitted to take up his life's work.

The council is divided into four standing committees: Family, children, health and recreation. As a further demonstration of the practicability of cooperation, last spring the health committee had charge of Health week, which was designed to stimulate public interest in local health needs and resources. Ten private agencies and 12 hospitals participated in this work. A program of health talks was arranged, and an exhibit assembled. Health demonstrations were given in the same building where the exhibit was on view. A predominant purpose of Health week was to impress upon the public the importance of having physical examinations every year whether in good or ill health.

Aids in Securing Legislation.

United rather than individual effort is felt to be much more effective in urging the passage of certain legislation regarding welfare work. For instance if certain welfare agencies are interested in the passage of a particular bill they now get together, discuss all its phases and come to some general agreement. Then a committee is appointed which lays the matter before the proper house or senate committee. Certainly this would have more force than if representatives from the individual agencies went before the committee, each in favor of the measure, but with certain modifications.

Another group of agencies may op-

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PLAN TO PROCEED WITH ROAD WORK

Program Approved by State Highway Director Boulay Will be Rushed to Completion.

In obtaining an appropriation of $120,875 from the state highway department, the county commissioners will now be able to go through with a road program that has been under serious consideration ever since the present board has been in office, and at the same time will insure completion of road projects that were launched by the old board.

In his conference with the commissioners, State Highway Director L. A. Boulay declared that the road map presented by the commissioners, as worked up by Clerk L. H. Johnson proved to him the necessity of immediate attention to road work in this county so far as the state was concerned.

"I have never had anything laid on my desk that is so clear as this map," Mr. Zoulay commented. "The great trouble with a lot of commissioners is, that when they come here for a conference they do not know what they want, but in your case, you always have your briefs properly prepared, and this is much to your credit."

In appropriating $20,000 for use on I. C. H. No. 502, which is the East Liverpool-Youngstown road north of the Cox highway to the Columbiana-Yellow Creek township, the county will also put $20,000 into this project.

While the state has put $56,250 in the Wellsville-Salineville project in Yellow Creek township, the county will put $60,000 into this job, which insures the completion of the surfacing of this road east from Highlandtown to the end of the brick road north of Wellsville. It is very likely that the state will award this contract either in the June or July letting. It will also be insisted upon by the state that this surfacing be completed this year, and this will insure an improved road betwen East Liverpool and Salineville before winter.

"We're tired of the East Liverpool-Wellsville road being closed every year," Mr. Boulay is quoted as remarking to the commissioners, and he then set aside $22,500 for the resurfacing and widening of this road from Silver switch east to the west end of the Taigenhorst job which was furnished last fall. This work will be done while the road is being improved at the East Liverpool end, and also at the Wellsville end—all work being done at the time the road is closed for these improvements.

The state has also set aside $25,000 for the Unity-Petersburg road, and this project will go through this season, providing the county can secure sufficient funds to match the appropriation of the state. It is proposed to place a macadam surface on this project.

Inasmuch as the state has put only $1,000 into the grading of the Hanover-Salem road in Hanover township, the Hanover trustees now have $44,000 to put into the project. The action of the state on this project insures the surfacing of this road next year between Hanover and Winona in Butler township. The grading on this road in Butler township was finished several years ago.

The state and the county will go 50-50 in widening the one way bridge on the Lincoln highway over the old canal at Kensington. The state has put $1,125 into this job. This bridge will be rebuilt within the next few months.

The Wellsville-Salineville road in Yellow Creek township will have a concrete top, while paving block will be used on the Wellsville-East Liverpool road. This will match the type of construction at either end of the road. Concrete will also be used on that part of 502 that is to be built north of the Cox highway.

THEATRE

Three Days Starting Monday

Gerald Beaumont's Racing Story Made Into Picture

"The Dixie Handicap," Reginald Barker's new production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer which is coming to the American theatre Monday, is a screen version of a story called "Dixie" by Gerald Beaumont that appeared in the Red Book Magazine.

It tells how the lost glory of an aristocratic Southern family was brought back by a horse and the young man who trained her. Full of the most thrilling incidents imaginable, and also possessing an unusually beautiful love angle, the story makes perfect screen material. Waldemar Young, who wrote the continuity for "The Great Divide," was the adapter of "The "Dixie Handicap."

The cast includes such notable players as Frank Keenan as Judge Roberts; Claire Windsor as his daughter, Virginia; Lloyd Huges as "The Dancin' Kid," who, in spite of his slangy title, is the hero; John Sainpolis in the villain role; Otis Harlan as a faithful darky; Joseph Morison, Otto Hoffman, Edward Martindel, Ruth King, and others.

Five Divorce Decrees Granted Here Friday By Judge J. G. Moore

Five divorces were granted by Judge James G. Moore following brief hearings in common pleas court, and one of the cases after settlement in the higher court was certified to the Juvenile court.

When the original petition to padlock the property was filed it was said that Fratilla occupied the two store rooms, but since then he has leased one side of the building to others.

WEIRTON GIRL IS ABDUCTED

Search Being Made for Alleged Kidnaper by Police.

Search continues for Louis Kaniokos, 32, proprietor of a Weirton cofee house, who, it is alleged, kidnapped and carried away with him Mary Nacrinos, 16-year-old Weirton high school student.

Details of Daniokos' alleged act were revealed to police by John Smolas, 22, who confessed that he drove the couple as far as Paris, Pa., in his automobile. Smolas is held in jail at Weirton and maintains that Daniokos forced him to carry the couple in his automobile, holding a revolver at his head. At the little village of Paris Daniokos he said had started with her in the direction of Pittsburgh, according to Smolas.

Doniokos is alleged to have seized the Nacrinos girl while she was walking past his coffee house in the middle of Weirton, enroute home from school. According to information given to Prosecutor Thomas S. Hoffman the girl tried to evade her abductor and there was a scuffle in which Doniokos picked up the girl and threw her into the waiting machine.

Weirton police, Hancock county deputy sheriffs and friends of the abducted girl started in pursuit and found Smolas who gave information which continued the search on toward Pittsburgh. At Paris it was learned that the girl was fighting frantically and had her abductor's face bleeding from her scratchings and was pounding him in the face as he carried her from one automobile to another. A revolver was found by Paris citizens at the scene where the transfer took place.

The driver of the first car returned to Weirton and said he was enroute to inform the girl's father of the kidnaping when he was arrested. News of the kidnaping was sent to Pittsburg and other towns and an extensive search for the abductor and his pretty young victim is in progress. It is said that the high school girl passed Daniokos' coffee rooms several times each day while going to and from high school, and other girls told the authorities tonight that Daniokos had tried to stop the Nacrinos girl several times while passing and that she had told her companions that she had feared the man.

NOTE SAYS GIRL IS HELD CAPTIVE

A clue that may lead to the discovery of a kidnaping case was found in the form of a note inclosed in a corked bottle in the Ohio river near Powhatan, Ohio, yesterday. The floating bottle was found by a miner, who happened to be walking along the river bank, enroute home from his work.

The note was written in a distinct woman's hand and signed by Thelma West. It explained that she was being held captive in the West Virginia hills directly opposite Toronto, O. The note further explained that unless aid reached her within ten days, there would be no use of searching. A faint date line was distinguishable as April 9, 1925.

Sheriff Alfred Tope of New Cumberland and Toronto authorities were immediately notified, but they have failed to find any clue of the story or establish the girl's identity.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

"I was in a very bad state of health which was caused by feminine trouble My nerves were bad, I was weak, had no strength left, my back hurt and I had side aches," said Mrs. Melvina Bower of 1316 E. Fourth St., Dayton, Ohio. "It was an effort for me to get around at all, but Dr. Pierce's favorite Prescription relieved me of all weakness, strengthened my nerves and restored me to perfect health. Upon another occasion I had pneumonia which left me very weak. I could not get back my natural strength. It also left me with a severe cough which it semed impossible for me to get rid of, but after taking a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery my cough disappeared and I got well and strong. It just seemed to give me a new lease on life."

Dr. Pierce's Famous Family remedies are sold at all drug stores, in tablets or liquid. Send Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for a trial pkg. of any of his medicines and write for free advice.

Thousands Face Starvation As South Wales Mines Close

Distress is Acute in Cottages as Result of Stagnation in Coal Industry.

EBBW VALLEY, Wales—Distress is acute in the cottages of South Wales miners.

Week after week finds more and more coal pits closing down, and more men out of work—with their only hope the unemployment dole. Some of those men who are working find htey are making less in wages than they would if they were receiving the unemployment dole.

The great slump that has hit the Welsh coal industry is rapidly bringing this section face to face with a crisis.

Poverty Acute.

Many families are almost on the verge of starvation and children are sadly undernourished. In thousands of homes orange boxes and apple barrels are taking the place of tables and chairs, and mattresses on the floors substitute for beds.

This coal area has long suffered from lack of proper housing facilities, and its drab dreariness and stark ugliness is now emphasized by the depression under which all of the people are suffering.

Welsh miners have always been noted for their thrift and carefulness, but many of them have for years been sacrificing to the limit in order to give their children educations which may lift them beyond the dull life of the coal fields. Now that hard times have come upon them they find their thrift invested in education.

Face Crisis.

A huge transference of population will probably be the final outcome of the situation which has arisen in the bituminous fields, where the falling off of the export trade has meant the closing of colliery after colliery.

Competition from foreign coal fields has brought the Welsh bituminous fields to the edge of the abyss, and unless some starting change come it will bring thousands of Welsh miners face to face with the great problem of how they can continue to exist.

Why Endure That Bad Back?

IS a constant backache keeping you upset? Feel all tired out—so nervous and dispirited you can hardly keep going?

Then look to your kidneys! Your kidneys rid the body of poisonous waste. But if they lag, impurities accumulate and cause slow poisoning of the whole system. Then one is apt to suffer backache, stabbing pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up at night and other annoying kidney irregularities.

Don't risk neglect. If your kidneys are sluggish, help them with a diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. They are praised the world over. Ask your neighbor!

Here is East Liverpool Proof:

John Grimm, fireman in pottery works, 1015 Ambrose Ave., says: "I caught a cold which settled on my kidneys and the sharp pains across my back were torture. I had such dizzy spells I couldn't see. My kidneys acted irregularly, and the secretions burned in passage. Doan's Pills, from Holloway's Drug Store, cured me of the attack."

Los Angeles Plans To Construct World's First Moving Tunnel

LOS ANGELES—This city is to have the world's first tunnel for pedestrians, which is equipped with moving seats and stationary sidewalks.

Surveys have been started for early construction, which, by the terms of a franchise just granted by the city council, will be built under the floor of the Second street tunnel.

The tunnel will be 1,500 feet long and 15 feet in width.

The moving platform will have turntables at each end, upon which chairs will be placed, where one may sit and ride, from one end to the other, for five cents a round trip. On either side there are to be one-way stationary sidewalks, which will be free for public use. The tunnel will cost $200,000.

Fears Eliminated.

DILLONVALE, May — Name of Robert Shores, Dillonvale, son of Walter Shores, Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad crossing watchman here, was given a piece of an envelope found in the pocket of clothing on a corpse at St. Louis. Inquiry led Shores to believe that his son, working at Marion, met a tragic death. This fear, however, was eliminated when a letter, mailed at Marion after the finding of the body at St. Louis, was received by the family.

millions now living will never die
Varied methods of bringing happiness to man have been tried and all have failed; but experimenting with so important a matter as man's happiness is not to continue forever.
For a long time this has been permitted; but now systems, organizations, nations, and creeds are called for a reckoning.
The reckoning is in progress among nations and creeds, and will in due time be extended to individuals.
Shortly, man will find a new arrangement of earth's affairs in operation, acquainting him by experience with those laws of right-doing that reward him with eternal life on earth.
The present marks that time of earth's history when events conspire to end the old order and inaugurate the new.

K. T. K. Tossers Trim Nash Motors In League Contest Here

Potters Get Off to Lead of Four Runs In Opening Inning

Timely Hints by Finley and Sutherin Aid Victors; Manning, Visiting Relief Hurler, Allows But Three Hits.

Before a fair sized crowd, K. T. K. defeated the Nash Motors, of Wellsville, in the Columbian park opening tilt of the Industrial league last evening. The score was 5 to 3.

Calhoun's wildness in the first inning, plus the timely hitting of Finley and Southerin enabled the Potters to annex the contest.

Finley shone resplendently in the field, and with Shaw, led the defense.

Allison was steady all the way and allowed but seven hits. D. Manning, who succeeded Calhoun on the hill-top for the Motors, was in rare form and held his opponents to three hits during practically the entire game.

Tagging The Bases

Sam Gray's fifth straight victory was George Uhle's first defeat and the Athletics won from the Indians, 5 to 3, taking uncontested possession of first place. Cochrane accounted for three of the five runs with a double and single while Speaker went hitless for the first time in 15 games.

The moot question of Shocker versus Bush was decided for the moment when the Yanks drove their ex-playmate to cover and shocker shut the Browns absolutely out, 12 to 0. They made only five hits but Sistel got one of them and carried his consecutive hitting streak to 23 games.

Flashing another ninth inning uprising, the Giants came from the surreptitious rear and beat the Cardinals, 5 to 2, Southworth wafting a homer off Dickerman with the bases filled.

After Fournier had staked the Reds to a tie by dropping Zitmann's foul in the ninth, the Dodgers stepped out in the home half and socked Rixey for three successive singles and won, 3 to 2.

Alexander had nothing but good intentions and the Braves slugged their way to a 5 to 2 decision over the Cubs in the golden jubilee game that celebrated the 50-years of the National league's existence.

Lyons not only pitched with distinction but his single and Rue's fumble of the throw to the plate staked the White Sox to a 4 to 3 victory over the Senators in the eighth.

Pirate pitchers were piled up in great disorder at the Phils blew themselves to a batting rampage and won, 15 to 7, Harper, Sand and Smith hitting homers.

The Red Sox put an abrupt end to an old fashioned go-as-you-please by scoring seven runs in the eighth and beating the Tigers 15 to 7.

Southworth is Hero In Giants' Victory

NEW YORK, May 9.—Billy Southworth, outfielder of the New York Giants, was the hero in one of baseball's great situations yesterday—ninth inning, three men on, two out and two runs needed to win. He drove a home run into the right field stands, giving his team a 5 to 2 victory over St. Louis.

Previously Southworth had hit a triple which scored the only Giant run obtained in eight innings off excellent pitching by Leo Dickerman.

Braves Trim Chicago In Jubilee Contest

BOSTON, May 9. — The Boston Braves defeated Chicago, 5 to 2, here yesterday, in the golden jubilee game of the National league, celebrating fifty years of baseball history. Prominent citizens—state, city, military and naval officials, high baseball dignitaries and 50 gray-haired "old timers," some of whom played in the first game of organized baseball half a century ago, saw the contest.

The Braves got to Alexander early and hit him hard for six innings. Genewich pitched well for the Boston club and held the Cubs in check while his teammates ran up a winning score.

Nats Lose to Sox in First Game in West

CHICAGO, May 9.—The White Sox defeated the Nats, 4 to 3, here yesterday in the first game Washington has played in the west since winning the world's title last fall.

Both the starting pichers were forced to retire and Lyons and Mogridge, who succeeded to the hill, engaged in a pitching duel with Lyons having the shade.

Lyons' single, followed by Ruel's muff of Leibold's throw to the plate, enabled the Sox to score their winning run in the eighth inning.

The fielding of Collins, Sheeley and Davis featured the game.

Macks Lead Circuit After Beating Tribe

CLEVELAND, May 9. — Philadelphia won sole possession of first place in the American league race here yesterday by defeating Cleveland, 5 to 3, in a pitching battle which marked Sam Gray's fifth straight victory and George Uhle's first defeat.

Gordon Cochrane, rookie catcher, drove in three runs for the Athletics with a double and a single.

Speaker went hitless after batting safely in 15 consecutive games.

JINX TRAILING REDS' MANAGER

Injuries to Team Make Hendricks Unlucky Leader.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Jack Hendricks probably makes no brash claims to being the greatest baseball manager in the world, but he will admit without a qualm to being the unluckiest. He has, in fact, just about killed off competition along this line during the last two seasons.

Jack fell heir to the Cincinnati Reds upon the death of Pat Moran a trifle more than a year ago, which was tough enough. The Reds were not and are not an easy club to manage at any time. A new manager, replacing an old favorite, might very well find himself occupying a bed of roses from which someone obligingly forgot to remove the thorns.

Daubert Dies.

All went as well as could be expected, however, until well on into the season. Then things began to happen, and the Reds were speedily deprived of any pennant hopes they may have entertained. Jake Daubert, star first baseman, was taken ill and died shortly thereafter. Ed Roush, the league's leading outfielder, pulled up lame. Club house lawyers began airing their views before, during and after ball games.

Hendricks established the identity of the Reds' boss for the time being at least by removing the disturbers during the recent off season.

The club went south of Orlando, played good ball and started the season with excellent prospects of finishing in the first divsion. Then the Hendricks jinx again reared its proud old head above this vista of optimism and great bounty.

Other Injuries.

Carl Mays, winner of 20 games in 1924, developed a bad arm and has been about as useful as a sparerib. Roush again developed charley horses in both legs and retired from the line-up, taking with him about 20 per cent of the team's punch. Hughey Critz was forced out by injuries, giving way to Charley Dressen, whose bad arm was not expected to respond to treatment and probably has not. Hargraves and Bressler remained in the game or the most part, but their efficiency decreased not a little because of the fact that they suffered from injured hands.

In spite of these depressing details, the Reds stepped out and won nine of their first 14 games, furnishing the Giants their only opposition during the early weeks of the race.

Proving what? That Hendricks isn't the worst manager in the world, either.

SARMIENTO AND TREMAINE DRAW

CLEVELAND, May 9.—Carl Tremaine, of Cleveland, and Pete Sarmiento, of Manila, were accorded equal honors by Referee Matt Hinkle, after twelve rounds of hard fighting in their bout here last night. Hinkle today said he would have awarded the bout to the Cleveland boy, except for foul tactics throughout the fight. The decision, however, was a popular one, and the crowd cheered both battlers impartially.

In the semi-final, Amos (Kid) Carlan, of New Orleans, and Tommy Hughes, Detroit, were given a draw. Hughes forced the fighting, however, and in the first round had Carlan against the ropes. Afterwards Carlin came back to win a draw.

Stock's Last Inning Single Beats Robins

BROOKLYN, May 9.—Stock's single in the ninth inning yesterday scored Brown with the run that gave Brooklyn a 3 to 2 victory over Cincinnati, appearing in the east for the first time this season. An error by Fournier in the ninth had permitted the Reds to tie the game.

Pirates are Buried By Phillies, 15 to 7

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Philadelphia buried the Pittsburgh Pirates under a 15 to 7 score yesterday.

Lee Meadows was hammered from the mound before he could retire the side in the first inning.

Twelve Boston players went to the plate in the eighth, scoring seven runs.

East Shows Strength In Western Clashes

Invading Clubs Yesterday Won Seven Out of First Eight Games Played Against Contenders in West.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 9. — Out in the great west, where the spaces are open and men are sometimes ball players, they haven't had a world's series contender since the Cleveland Indians won in 1920, and if the first of the intersectional clashes mean anything, they still may be minus the desired candidate at the end of the 1925 campaign. Only in the intersectional meetings can strength and weakness be established and their inaugural yesterday saw the east win seven of the eight games played.

This result might be reversed today, tomorrow or some day next week, but it is nevertheless not without its significance.

The Yankees, for example, couldn't beat any club in the east but their first day beyond the Alleghenies saw them run up a 12 to 0 score on the St. Louis Browns who had been doing pretty well against their western opposition. The Red Sox also won by a top-heavy score from the Tigers and it is a matter of previous record that the Sox beat their eastern rivals only five times since the start of the season.

If these opening skirmishes furnish a true line on the strength of the two sections, they would appear to account for the rather surprising showing of the Indians who were expected to finish in the second division but who have hovered in or about the lead since opening day. The Indians won 12 out of 17 games from the Tigers, Browns and White Sox but lost yesterday to the Athletics, who thereupon went to the pace in the league race.

The White Sox were the only western winners yesterday, nipping the Senators right at the wire. They have played commendable ball from the outset and may yet prove the dark horse of the campaign.

As a matter of fact clubs selected as pre-race contenders, particularly western entries, have not improved between seasons in ratio with the obvious betterment of some teams in the east. The Pirates broke up their remarkable infield and yesterday finished far back of the Phillies, who no longer fly a doormat from their flagpole.

The Cubs were weakened by the loss of Maranville and Grigsby and, therefore, can not be said to be a better prospect than the 1924 outfit. The Reds are a probably first division entry but not a pennant winner, their several weaknesses being too obvious. Of course the Pirates do not belong where they are; neither do the Cardinals. But unless they soon begin to show something more than the right idea, it will be too late to show anything beyond a deficit.

The same applies to the Tigers and, of course, the Yankees, although the latter, in the opinion of the writer, are through, anyhow. The Tigers are another club that didn't improve between seasons. The Senators and Athletics, eastern teams they must beat, most obviously did improve.

NO HIT-NO RUN GAME FOR HOY

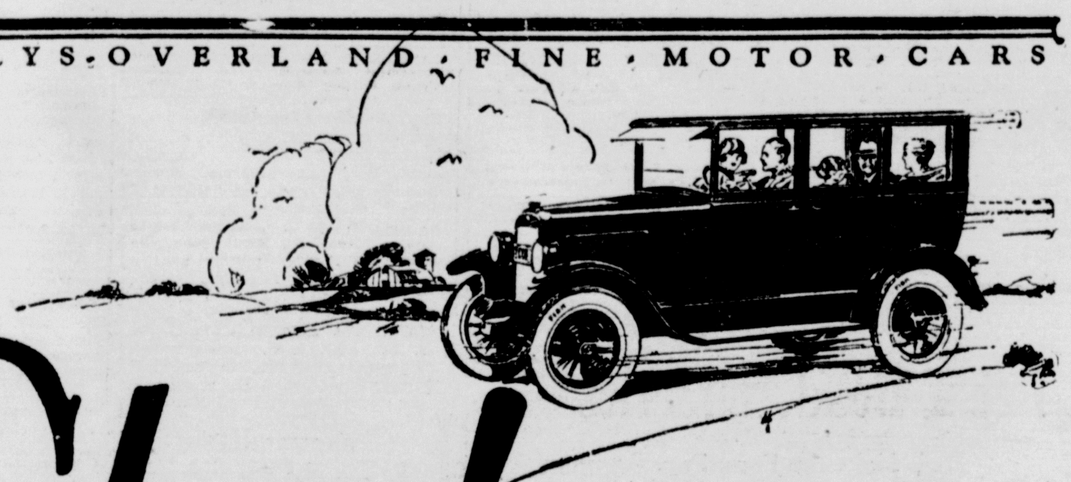

Chester Hurler is Victor Over Babcock-Wilcox.

In a contest that almost went by unnoticed, so suddenly was it called and played, the most striking achievement recorded this season in local baseball circles was executed when Pitcher Hoy, of Frank Riley's Chester Industrial league club, pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Babcock-Wilcox entry Thursday evening at Klondyke.

The Chesterites copped the contest by the count of 13 to 0. The defense of Riley's nine was well nigh airtight, only two miscues being charged against it. And the Chester tossers emphasized their defensive work with an attack that produced 17 hits off Pitcher Duncan.

Hoy's work was the best bit of pitching recorded here for a long time. Besides letting the opposition down with hits, he fanned 15 batters, pose the measure and they would go through the same procedure as the first. Both of these groups, however, have the facilities of the council at their service. The council does not try to control the policy of its members, but merely seeks to provide them with facilities for cooperative and effective action. If and when there develops clear cut difference of opinion between groups of member agencies the council's method provides for clear and definite statement of the points at issue. Unanimity of opinion is not always possible, but the clearing away of confusion may be, it is argued.

One of the things which the council has been trying to do is to correct the erroneous impression that the Board of Children's Guardians of the District of Columbia snatches children from their homes and places them in homes or "farms them out." It says that children are never taken from their homes except upon order of the juvenile court. And such order is not given unless upon investigation it is found that the home is an unfit place to raise the child. This is usually due to immorality or drunkenness on the part of one or both parents.

A child is never taken from his parents on account of poverty. If the parent is found to be a person to be entrusted with the upbringing of children, but is too poor properly to provide for them, there are agencies that are eager and willing to help them. This, of course, applies in the main to widows who are left with families and no means of support. In all cases every effort is make to keep the children with their mother if she is of good character.

Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.
